Amnesty Broadened

City's Total
Now 159

Forty-eight Chinese in Victoria have reported to authorities as illegal immigrants in the past two weeks.

An immigration official here said it will take several weeks to process the applications for status adjustment.

Since mid-1960 there have been 159 applications and some of them are still awaiting processing.

Most of the illegal immigrants entered the country with false documents, misrepresentation of relationships "and many other means," the official said.

There were about 400 other applications made in Vancouver before the recent rush of more than 200 in that city.

One source in Vancouver's Chinatown, Canada's largest, estimated there were about 2,000 Chinese still hiding there illegally.

VANCOUVER (CP)—An immigration department official said Friday an amnesty covering Chinese who entered Canada illegally has been broadened and extended indefinitely.

Frank Wragg, operations supervisor for the Vancouver area for the immigration department, said the amnesty will apply to Chinese who have entered the country illegally up to and including Aug. 31.

As in the past, the amnesty will cover Chinese who have entered the country under pretence of having close relatives here. It also has been broadened to include those who have entered through use of forged passports.

Those illegally entered need only step forward and declare their status.

"We want to take statements from all of them," Mr. Wragg said, "so we can clarify their status."

Earlier this month Immigration Minister Tremblay announced in the Commons that a deadline of Sept. 1 had been set for the amnesty policy. Later he said the government was prepared to prolong the period of amnesty.

It was reported here that 2,000 illegally landed Chinese were continuing to hide.

Bennett:

B.C. Bank Bid Not Dead Yet

B.C.'s application for a bank charter may come before the senate banking committee again within 15 days, Premier Bennett said Friday.

The bank dropped suddenly from the news about a month ago when senators discontinued, for the time being, deliberation of the premier's charter application.

But the bank is "coming along well," Mr. Bennett told reporters.

"The two virtues I hope to cultivate now are perseverance and patience—the hardest virtues to carry out," he said.

Will B.C. get it's bank? "We've complied with all the rules so we should get it," the premier said.

'Revolution' Drives Out Canadiens

QUEBEC (CP)—Seven officials, including three regional presidents, announced Friday they are quitting their posts in Le Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale, a leading Quebec separatist organization, because it is "dominated by a faction which is leading it more and more into an irreversible policy of revolution."

The seven said in a statement that if political independence is necessary for Quebec, revolution would be "extremely disastrous" as a way of achieving it. The regional presidents involved in the resignation are Dr. René Jutra of the Bois-Blanc region, Jean Garon of the Quebec City and Quebec East region and Marc-André Bedard of Châteauguay.

Coldwell: 'Watched'

Coldwell Dossier Cited By 'Undercover Agent'

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—Calvin Macdonald, who claims to be working as an undercover agent for the RCMP 10½ years, said Friday he spied on M. J. Coldwell, former federal OCF leader, in 1960.

In the second of his cross-country speeches, Macdonald said in a street-corner speech that Ernest Corrigan, a corporal in the RCMP's "A" Squadron of the security investigations branch, ordered him to collect facts for a dossier on Mr. Coldwell.

Mr. Macdonald says he is making his cross-country tour and exposes to attempt to force the RCMP to acknowledge that he became a Communist Party member on their behalf and acted as an undercover agent.

Mr. Macdonald said here he met Mr. Coldwell at social affairs at the Russian Embassy. He said he saw him there at least three times after he (Mac-

Really Time to Retire

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—A retired volunteer fireman can sleep in peace at La Crosse Hospital now—he knows the fire alarm system works.

The 75-year-old patient decided to take the hospital's fire alarm system apart and make sure it was in shape. Five trucks responded.

Queen Visits Ailing Predecessor

Surprise call on retiring Luxton Fair Queen, Donna Childow, on right, was made by new Queen, Yvonne Smith, at St. Joseph's Hospital Friday night.

Donna, 13, couldn't make fair to crown new queen so Yvonne made trip to the hospital with gift of fruit. (See story, pictures, Page 17.)

Riotous Troops, Students

Turks Assail U.S.

ANKARA (AP)—Turkish soldiers and officers joined students Friday in a riotous two-hour march through Ankara streets, shouting anti-United States slogans and breaking windows of the Greek embassy.

The United States also came in for attack in Nicosia, Cyprus, where Greek-Cypriots in an orderly demonstration accused the U.S. and Britain of supporting Turkish demands for the partition of Cyprus. Cypriots shouted "Makarios, Khrushchev, Nasser" and carried placards saying "shame on Anglo-American imperialist murderers."

SECOND DAY
It was the second day in a row in which Ankara crowds had assailed the United States. The Turks have been aroused by newspaper stories saying the U.S. is trying to force Turkey to accept a solution providing for union of Cyprus with Greece. The Nicosia rally preceded the departure of President Archbishop Makarios for Alexandria and talks with Egypt's President Nasser, who has offered arms to Cyprus.

U.S. Backs Rotation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. state department Friday supported Turkey's right to rotate its troops on Cyprus and said it was "concerned" about Greek Cypriot threats to prevent the rotation.

The Cypriot government has refused to permit rotation. Turkey has let it be known it would be prepared to use force to carry it out.

Blockade Lifted

LAENACA, Cyprus (UPI)—The UN peace force commander said Friday the Greek-Cypriots lifted their economic blockade against Turkish Cypriot communities three days ago.

Brink of Anarchy

TROOPS CURB SAIGON RIOTS

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese troops in full battle gear cracked down on mobs today and restored a semblance of order after this capital had teetered on the verge of anarchy. It was expected military leaders would step back into full power.

A declaration of martial law and imposition of a 9 p.m. to 4 a.m. curfew was expected.

A government spokesman said Friday night a military-civilian "committee of unification" would replace the dissolved ruling revolutionary council. The committee would include the country's three top generals and representatives of the Buddhists, Roman Catholics and possibly students.

EVERYONE FIGHTS

Buddhists and Catholics have been fighting each other and the students have been rioting against the government in disorders that left at least nine dead and scores wounded.

At a noon press conference, Nguyen Xuan Oanh, a former vice-premier for economic affairs, announced he would be acting premier of the caretaker government for the next two months. He formerly served under strongman Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

FISH BARRIERS ASIDE

The soldiers swept aside makeshift barriers of wire mesh and debris across main streets by the demonstration Thursday and Friday and set up barbed wire barricades of their own.

"From now on law and order will be enforced," a security officer said.

But a Communist Viet Cong broadcast called on the people in Saigon to rise in revolt, and a force said to be made up of 1,000 students from Communist territory was reported marching on the capital.

MAIN POINTS

The main points of violence in the city and its suburbs were under army control with barbed wire barricades blocking the approaches.

Units of paratroopers and steel-helmeted troops with fixed bayonets rased around the city, pouncing on random knots of demonstrators, shoving them into trucks and driving them away.

Five hundred demonstrators were arrested Friday night and police said 150 of them had criminal records. At least 15 were being held as Communist suspects.

FORM COMMITTEE

In an attempt to put an end to the religious strife and student rebellion, the government set up the committee of unification.

Blood Quest Ranged Afar

WASHINGTON (AP)—A doctor said Friday blood banks struggled successfully to obtain 53 units of a rare type of blood from 60 donors in 10 states and Canada last year to save the life of a New Jersey man.

Dr. Lyndall Molthan of Philadelphia told of the dramatic international quest to round up the blood type, called "Lutheran B-negative" and discovered only a few years ago.

She said sheet-metal worker Herbert Kuehn, in the course of a series of operations, three times exhausted the U.S. supply of the rare blood.

But, she told the annual meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks that, because of the work of the blood banks in rounding up donors, he now is back home.

She said co-operation of many blood banks obtained the needed blood from donors in Winnipeg and Toronto, an Irish woman visiting in Boston and donors in New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Alabama, Florida, Illinois, Minnesota and Pittsburgh.

Many of the donors had not known they possessed the rare type.

Negroes Riot In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Negroes smashed store windows, looted stores and attacked police vehicles with bottles and bricks in north Philadelphia Friday.

The outbreak started when two policemen tried to stop a loud argument between a man and a woman sitting in a parked car. A crowd gathered and threatened the officers. The mob grew and as the leaders taunted the police, others ran down Columbia Avenue, a business district, looting stores.

More than 200 policemen moved into the area and restored order for a time. The crowd again became unruly when police began chasing roving gangs suspected of looting. Quiet was restored when more police arrived.

At least 20 persons, including a bus driver, were injured. Transportation routes through

Slowly Dying

Cleo Still No Lady, Floods Georgia City

Buffalo Killed

REDBURY (CP)—A CNR flyer bound for Toronto Thursday hit two wild buffalo and killed one at a crossing 20 miles south of here.

The other bull was slightly injured and escaped into the bush. The dead buffalo weighed a ton. The meat will be given to charity.

SAVANNAH, GA. (UPI)—Tropical storm Cleo, its hurricane punch lost in a $200 million blow to the Florida panhandle, churned into Georgia tonight and dumped torrential rains on this port city.

More than seven inches of rain in five hours sent flash floods rampaging into low-lying areas of the city. The civil defence threw open two high schools and more than 60 persons sought refuge in them.

Others fled their homes, with up to a foot of water on the floor, to stay with friends and relatives on high ground.

WINDS DROPPING
Late tonight the storm, its highest winds diminished to 65 miles an hour, was located near Brunswick, in southeast Georgia. Its full force was yet to reach Savannah.

Before crashing ashore at Miami in the pre-dawn darkness yesterday, Cleo claimed 122 lives in a four-day rampage through the Caribbean.

Surprisingly, no deaths resulted during its 200-mile march up the Florida gold coast yesterday, but the weather bureau said there were 175 injuries in south Florida alone—most of them from flying glass.

The 24-hour bout with the mainland cut Cleo's high winds today, but there still was enough sting in the winds to punish parts of the north Florida and Georgia coasts.

Strangely, Brunswick reported only minor damage to power lines. No damage was reported to buildings or boats along the resort beaches in the area.

The Miami weather bureau said Cleo was moving northward at about 10 miles an hour, and gale warnings displayed from Brunswick to Charleston, S.C.

WARNINGS LOWERED
Hurricane warnings, and later hurricane watches, were lowered along the coast when the storm's winds dropped well below the 75 mph minimum for a hurricane. Forecasters said it would continue to lose strength as it pushed up the coast.

Gusty winds uprooted a tree at Savannah and sent it crashing down on a house.

The storm knocked out 61,600 telephones in Dade County, and 75 to 80 per cent of the electricity consumers were without power. Many still are.

The weather agency gave these other preliminary figures for Dade County: 1,200 homes damaged; 200 business houses damaged; 90 trailers destroyed or badly damaged; 82 or more old planes in Dade and Broward counties damaged or destroyed.

Scratching for Teachers

REGINA (CP)—Teachers will be accepted from every possible sphere to provide instruction if public elementary school teachers strike, W. R. How, Regina public school board superintendent, said Friday.

Mr. How said the board will accept any teachers willing to work, but he did not expect to hire out-of-province instructors.

Teachers of elementary public school classes are asking for wages equal to those of secondary public school teachers with equal qualifications.

Gib Eamer, executive secretary of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation, said Friday, the federation would provide financial support to Regina teachers if necessary.

H. G. R. Walker, teachers' negotiating committee chairman, said teachers had not expected such aid when they gave notice of their intention to stay out of classrooms.

Further support for the teachers has been pledged by the Prince Albert and District Labor Council.

Congo Battle

Mercenary Attack Driven Back

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—White mercenary soldiers, attacking the rebel-held city of Albertville on Lake Tanganyika, have been driven back by concentrated machine-gun fire after penetrating almost to Albertville airport, reliable sources said Friday in the Congo capital.

It was the first time mercenary soldiers hired by Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe had gone into action on the ground against Communist-backed rebels in the Eastern Congo.

The informants said the battle took place Thursday.

200 MEN

The Congolese government has denied hiring mercenaries, although reliable reports said at least 200 are in the country.

Recent messages from the 130 Europeans still in Albertville spoke of "catastrophic" conditions there and a complete breakdown of law and order. Messages said Albertville was in the hands of drunken teen-age warriors who were looting and killing without restraint.

Terrorists Jailed In Quebec

MONTREAL (UPI)—The law closed the books Friday on the case of three admitted terrorists who went on a binge of stealing dynamite, blowing up railway tracks and trying to rob a bank last spring.

Sent to prison for three concurrent four-year terms were Jean Castonguay, 28, and Omer Latour, 29, both of Montreal. The third terrorist, Georges Laporte, also of Montreal, drew three concurrent terms of three years.

Judge Paul Pélouin told them they were "dangerous characters who could have taken lives by acting without thinking."

A Lot of Company

PERHAPS GEORGE CHATTERTON has been wrong, all this time. In his scoring of the Pearson government's performance. On two or three occasions in the Commons he has called attention to what the Liberals "promised" they were going to do if elected, and noted their failures. He did it again last week.

"I have with me," he said, "a full page advertisement which appeared in the Victoria Colonist dated March 31, 1963. It is headed, 'Policies of the Liberal Party, General Election, 1963.' In looking over this full page advertisement I see many things that the Liberals promised. Glancing through it, I see that they are going to reform taxes, which they have done by increasing them; municipal loans for schools and parks are to be provided; provide mortgages for existing homes—I will bet that got them many thousands of votes—improve rural housing; set up an economic council; assist in retraining courses for industry; provide ten thousand $1,000 scholarships; improve public financing for universities; pensions to make possible retirement on half pay at age 65 with a maximum pension of $296 per couple; $75 old age assistance for single women and widows; collective bargaining for civil servants; restore unemployment insurance fund; create a fisheries credit agency, and so on. I could take another half hour listing the things that they have promised which they have not yet done, many of which they have already decided to abandon."

What's wrong with this assessment? Why, of course, these weren't promises. Not according to the novel reckoning put forward by Postmaster General Jack Nicholson.

A promise, in Mr. Nicholson's view (and he says a cabinet minister speaks on behalf of the government) is a promise when it is made by a member of the government. When an MP campaigning as a member of an out-of-power party says what he will try to do, that is a different matter.

By this definition, the Liberals, since none of them were members of the government, are to be complimented on the modesty of their platform in the last election. They could have offered children's allowances from birth to 21 and pensions from 21 to death, without taxation. And free loans for everyone.

A disquieting thought, though, is that if Mr. Chatterton has been in error in thinking of that list of out-of-power pledges as promises, he is not the only one among us who has been wrong. Quite a few ballots, in fact, may have been cast under the same misapprehension.

Gritty Grit

PROVINCIAL Liberal Leader Ray Perrault's interesting suggestion that there should be a "B.C. House" in Ottawa as well as in London and San Francisco would indicate that he now shares with Premier Bennett the view that British Columbia is not getting the recognition to which it is entitled from the federal government.

In explaining why he thinks a "B.C. House" in Ottawa is a necessity, Mr. Perrault said: "This would be of real value, not only in obtaining for B.C. industry our fair share of federal government allocations... but new industry and tourism as well."

With this statement alone Mr. Perrault makes it clear that he is firmly convinced that British Columbia is not getting a fair deal from Ottawa. This is something of an admission for any Grit supporter to make, let alone the leader of a provincial Liberal Party.

Mr. Perrault is to be congratulated for placing the interests of the people of British Columbia above his party politics. We hope his words will be heard by his national colleagues who run things on Parliament Hill.

Life-Saving Habit

ATTORNEY-GENERAL BONNER has taken a sensible view in rejecting a suggestion that it should be made an offence under the provincial law for motorists to fail to fasten their seat belts. The requirement that all new cars be provided with the life-saving belts has not long been in effect, and the majority of automobiles are still without them. When they are almost universal, as Mr. Bonner says, that will be the time to think about enforcing their use. And even then, such a law would seem to be of doubtful practicality.

More to the point at present, anyway, is an appeal to reason, and in this connection the Canadian Highway Safety Council is to be commended for a pamphlet it has produced to be placed in the glove compartments of all new cars in Canada. The brochure should win many converts to the habit of buckling up. By that token, though, it deserves wider circulation than just to the new-car purchasers.

For the drivers of the same old bus, with or without safety belts, and the trader-uppers who haven't reached the top, here are some of the points it makes:

Scientific research, controlled tests, studies have proved some 500 more Canadians would stay alive each year if everyone wore seat belts. The severity of injuries would be reduced by more than one-third.

Seat belts reduce "the crash within the crash." In an accident, the car may stop abruptly, but the people inside don't stop. Unless they are wearing seat belts they are lashed around and frequently thrown out. Chances of death or serious injury are many times greater if thrown from a car.

Belts should be worn even when driving to the corner store. Half of all road accidents involving injury or death occur at 40 miles an hour or less. Three out of four traffic deaths occur within 25 miles of home.

A crash stop at only 15 miles an hour can kill a child without a seat belt. Besides, the belted youngster will not be able to climb around inside the car.

Some motorists are fearful of being trapped when they wear seat belts. They fear the car catching fire or being submerged. But less than one per cent of all injury-producing accidents involve fire or submersion, and even then, the belt could keep its wearer from being knocked unconscious, enabling him to stay in control with a better chance of escape.

Smugly fastened, seat belts substantially reduce fatigue and swaying in a moving car, particularly on long trips.

A Compromise

Gate to Southeast Asia

Ho's Threatening Foothold

By KEN MACGAGGART

IT'S 10 years since the world watched in fascination while Dien Bien Phu fell, spelling out France's collapse in rich, colonial-dominated Indochina, and the resulting Geneva agreement with many Far East experts called the Munich of Southeast Asia.

The recent U.S. attack on North Viet Nam torpedoed bases stems from that time and the agreement which divided Indochina into four states: Laos, Cambodia, South Viet Nam.

In all the 10 years since May, 1954, only two basic facts stand out in what has occurred there: U.S. adherence to its pledge that it would oppose the spread of Communism by force in the three non-Communist states, Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam, and the equally obvious determination of North Viet Nam's Communist government to carry out that intention.

The whole thing began unnoticed by the Western world because it was preoccupied with a war of its own. In 1940, Japan was fighting China and stormed into Indochina to gain bases.

Facing collapse at home in the face of Germany's power, France signed a humiliating agreement with Japan to grant the bases to the Japanese, and then proceeded to set up a puppet state under Tokyo's control.

Then came Japan's entrance into the bigger war with its Pearl Harbor attack, and its seizure of the Philippines and its successful capture of all Southeast Asia. As it conquered, it set up puppet administrations in each country, with well-known leaders of nationalist movements in each country at the head. Sukarno in Indonesia was an example. In Viet Nam the emperor, Bao Dai, was chosen.

As the war ended, these nationalist forces saw their chances of freeing their countries of foreign domination, and as these aspirations took form most of the free world sympathized. The Netherlands lost Indonesia. France began a new war to hold Indochina.

By the time France returned, in effect, to Indochina, a year after the war ended, the nationalist forces were well-established. To a great extent, those in Viet Nam were true nationalists. In the north, however, adjoining China's border, Communists had gained a firm hold, and the forces once led by a handful of British and American nationalists had acquired Communist leaders.

Typical of these was a shrewd, witty Nguyen Quoi Hoc, born in North Annam in 1892. He had joined the French merchant marine as a cabin boy, travelled the world, became a member of the Communist youth movement, was chosen for two years' study in Moscow. He was sent to Canton to organize anti-colonial nationalists, few of them Communists. But his vigor and magnetism made him a leader.

And he changed his name to Ho Chi Minh, which means "He who enlightens."

When France returned to Indochina it found him well-entrenched in Viet Nam, at that time one state. It reached agreement with him, and accepted him as spokesman for the people of that part of the country.

But France could not forsake its colonial methods. The French followed a course that led to trouble. It offered independence to its West and Equatorial African colonies, but in Asia it made no such offers.

Typical of French obduracy was the antagonizing of Ho Chi Minh as early as December, 1946. A new army commander set up his own puppet government in Cochinchina, an area clearly marked as under the administration of Ho's puppet government, that of Emperor Bao Dai, which was dominated and restaffed with his Communist followers.

The long-existing and wholly nationalist-minded Vietminh, a league for freedom, had become a powerful Communist-controlled force.

So Ho attacked the French forces, at first a small skirmish for the strategic port of Haiphong which was vital to North Viet Nam commerce. From then on, it was war, but a war fought by the French along classic lines mainly and by the Communist-led forces on guerrilla lines. Eight years later Dien Bien Phu's collapse gave the Laos' vast Plain of Jars to Ho.

By this time, everyone seemed to have got into the act. Korea had been fought, and awareness of Communist methods was sharper. But the Western world was war-weary. Offers by Moscow to seek a peace pact were supported by the collapsing government of France's Premier Laniel. On a vote in the Assembly, on France's conduct of the Indochina war, he was defeated 306 to 293.

At this point, Britain's government called for a conference on the situation. This voice was important; Britain had a big stake in Southeast Asia and was regarded as knowledgeable of the area. China's vigorous new Peking administration supported the proposal; Russia had already spoken. So a meeting finally assembled there in 1954. Anthony Eden presided over the meeting; Russia's spokesman was co-chairman.

France was represented by the brand-new administration of Mendes-France who had won power on a pledge of "Peace in Indochina in 30 days." He succeeded. France agreed to the new plan for Indochina, with the U.S. refusing to join the agreement and vigorously opposing it as a sellout. Many observers agreed with the U.S.

Their stand was based on the "falling dominoes" theory—that Communist intentions were to gain a foothold from which it could push over its neighbors by infiltration and external threats. Neither state would attack another. Britain's former foreign secretary, Bill Boes of The Canadian Press had written many warnings from Viet Nam. In one report he said: "If Ho succeeds, world Communism will have a new bastion against India, Pakistan, Burma and Thailand to the west and Japan and the U.S. to the east."

Under the agreement at Geneva, which was non-UN sponsored because Peking, a non-UN member, was a signatory. Ho was to win his North Viet Nam, and the other three states were to be recognized. A truce commission was to see that no arms other than required for internal policing of each country were to be imported, and neither state would attack another. Elections were to be held within two years; residents of either North or South Viet Nam could move to the other state if they desired.

Against this plan the U.S. rallied vainly. So did some of the neighboring states which feared Communist infiltration. And Ho's devotion to freedom for his own area seemed forgotten when he went on the radio the night the pact was signed and said this was a victory because it provided opportunity for "freeing of our brothers" in the rest of Indochina, a plan he obviously intended. Within weeks fighting broke out all over the area adjoining North Viet Nam. It has continued ever since.

By May, 1955, Canada's Lester Pearson was denouncing "terrible things" occurring in North Viet Nam. It had taken the eight years to win this war, and about eight hours to set up complete blockade of his nation from telegraphic and telephone communications.

Self-denunciation was demanded of all 13,000,000 people now under his rule, and calls for denunciation of French collaborators.

The policy of Ho Chi Minh is the classical Communist policy: liberation of someone whether they want to be liberated or not. The policy of the U.S. is prevention of that, perhaps equally whether they desire it or not.

Basic to everything, though, was the realization that France's stubborn failure to recognize that it could have met Ho's challenge years earlier underlay the whole situation. Now the U.S. is trying to make up for that failure.

Canadian Role in Cyprus

A Job to Finish

By HOWARD GREEN
Former Secretary of State for External Affairs

IN Cyprus the point has now been reached where all the nations involved are disillusioned and anxious to be quit of the whole messy business.

It is significant that Greece seems to be growing impatient with the Greek Cypriots who are now seeking aid from the Soviet Union. Greece obviously has nothing to gain and much to lose from a war with her North Atlantic Treaty ally Turkey over Cyprus.

Since becoming members of NATO these two nations have worked together very well. Forming the southeastern bastion of the alliance they have stood firmly against Communist aggression. Any disagreement between them now could only be of help to the Soviet Union and its satellites.

All 15 member nations of NATO benefit from the alliance. Each one of them has acquired an understanding of the views and problems of the others and many valuable personal friendships have been made. It is very hard for anyone who has participated in a NATO conference to visualize a falling out between two of the members, let alone war.

Certainly Britain must be thoroughly disgusted with the developments in Cyprus. Under the treaty giving the island independence the British were permitted to retain an important military base which is vital for the protection of their interests in the Near East and also for maintaining NATO strength in the area.

Now there are demands that she withdraw her forces. This in spite of the fact that when trouble first broke out this year between Greek and Turkish Cypriots both sides asked the British to use some of their troops for preventing fighting between the factions and this request was granted. Even today a large number of British troops are doing the same type of work under United Nations command despite the fact that various other nations, including Canada, have supplied units for the peace-keeping force.

The United States too has good reason to be worried over the situation. It is bad enough to have two of her NATO allies quarreling but worse than that is the attempt of the Greek Cypriots to get the Soviet Union involved on their side. If the Russians step into this picture the Cyprus problem will become extremely serious and could lead to a nuclear war.

I cannot believe that Premier Khrushchev is so foolish as to intervene actively. He may supply the Greek Cypriots with certain equipment and give them propaganda support but he is unlikely to go so far as to provoke the Americans into taking action against him. Cyprus simply is not that important to Russia.

Then we come to the nations which like Canada have supplied troops for the United Nations Force. They obviously have no reason for being pleased with the situation in Cyprus. Their men are doing the nasty jobs—hauling litter and thither to get between warring Cypriots—occasionally being shot at—and at all times required to show the patience of Job.

Add to this the fact that their instructions from the United Nations are indefinite; that they can only fight to defend themselves, and that no end seems in sight—and one realizes why these peace-keeping nations are not enthusiastic about Cyprus.

The Canadian contingent is the largest in the United Nations Force with the exception of the British which as I have pointed out, was on hand when the trouble started. Canada was the first country to respond to the call of the United Nations for a peace-keeping force. This role is the one in which she has done her finest work and it is of great value to mankind generally.

Naturally there are dangers—and there is expense—but we must expect to encounter many difficulties. There are also compensations, one of which is the growing recognition of our good work in this field. Probably the merits of this activity are more clearly understood in some other countries than they are in Canada.

Recently I had the privilege of attending a conference of Canadians and Americans which considered the relations between the two countries. It was surprising to find that the Americans had a much deeper appreciation of the importance of our peace-keeping work than the Canadians.

Some Canadian writers claim that Canada by participating in the United Nations Force in Cyprus is harming NATO. In fact the opposite is the case: her activities there may well save NATO from breaking up which would be very likely to happen if Greece and Turkey went to war over Cyprus. I am quite sure that all our NATO allies are delighted that we have men in the force.

It will be remembered, too, that no country was called on to participate which was not approved for this work by all the nations concerned—and by both Greek and Turkish Cypriots. Canada was the first country to pass this severe test.

Now the job must be completed, no matter how much unpleasantness develops. Circumstances may arise which will compel the withdrawal of the United Nations Force but Canada should not take the lead in advocating any such action.

His Beatitudes

By RICHARD JACKSON, Columnist Ottawa Bureau

THE two o'clock assembly bells were ringing the other afternoon, all through the Centre and West Blocks, and MPs were streaming along the corridors to the Commons and the start of the long day's business, which, as usual, would open with questions about Cyprus, the continuing crisis-island.

But Defence Minister Hellyer was headed the other way. "Not going in today," somebody asked, innocently. "Guess I'll have to," he grinned, not so innocently, as he pulled up short and about-turned. "Got to hear what His Beatitude has to say."

Now who, pray, might "His Beatitude" be? Prime Minister Pearson? Uh, no. Conservative Leader Diefenbaker? Guess again. It was, of course, the Hon. Paul Martin, secretary of state for external affairs, the "new" dignity-stuffed, protocol-puffed "Oom Paul."

And, of course, nobody really had to ask who "His Beatitude" was. For everybody knew, even "His Beatitude" himself when he heard the crack later, and beamed in amiable appreciation.

He has become one of the "musts" for the better than half million tourists crowding Parliament Hill these dying days of summer.

The honorable, the secretary of state for external affairs, rising in the Commons impressive as some Savile Row Grand Lama, has become a rival attraction to the Changing of the Guard or a summer evening recital of "Der Rosenkavalier" on the Peace Tower earthen.

Some tourists have preferred watching "Oom Paul" envelop the Commons in a fog of those great misty clouds of answers of his to taking the capital's "sonic drive" along the Gatineau Parkway.

When Mr. Martin is scheduled to speak, the Lakehead's NDP Deputy Douglas Fisher has suggested, there really ought to be an admission charge at the main door of the Centre Block—"It might help poor Walter Gordon with his finance minister's deficit."

A kind of Canadian James Bond, from Brockville, that charming old St. Lawrence Front Ontario town, of all places. He doesn't talk much about it, but his friends and admirers can spin some thrillers.

Family On Cruiser Cast Adrift at Night

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — A $40,000 cruiser owned by John A. Godfrey of Toronto was cast adrift on the Trent Canal near Lakefield as he, his wife and a young girl slept.

"I have been up and down the Trent Canal system several times before but I have never had anything like this happen to me," said Mr. Godfrey.

As the three slept the cruiser drifted two miles down the canal toward Peterborough.

'Excellent' Weather Pictures U.S. Launches Stormhunter

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The newest and biggest U.S. stormhunter satellite, the 10-foot-tall Nimbus, shot into space Friday and started tele-visual cloud pictures officials called "excellent."

First pictures received at ground tracking stations were of the Gulf of Mexico and parts of Florida and Louisiana.

watch on the world's weather. Earlier Three weather satellites spin in space and then miss up to 80 per cent of the earth's surface during a 24-hour period.

The $30-million spacecraft roared aloft atop a 91-foot Thor-Agena booster rocket. Preliminary cutoff of the second firing of the Agena stage was blamed for sending it into an oval orbit ranging from 262 to 578 miles high, rather than the planned 575-mile-high orbit.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said this would not prevent Nimbus from taking satisfactory pictures of cloud cover as it whirls around the earth's poles every 90 minutes.

The first picture from Nimbus was taken from about 500 miles over Baton Rouge, La.

The western edge of hurricane Cleo was visible at the picture's extreme right.

The officials said the Nimbus pictures were far superior to those obtained from the two Tiros satellites, both of which have been used for observation of hurricane Cleo.

PICTURES IN DARK

India - red picture-gear designed to relay pictures taken while the satellite is on the dark side of the earth is expected to improve forecasters' ability to spot storms brewing far at sea.

Among those groups with facilities to receive the pictures is Canada's National Research Council in Ottawa, U.S. space administration officials said.

'No Reason' For Probe —Manning

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Manning of Alberta said Friday the province has no intention of launching an investigation of its treasury branches, that it will be three years before the government thinks of calling an election and no further cabinet changes are planned.

"I know of no reason whatever for an investigation into the operation of the treasury branches," Mr. Manning said.

"We have received no complaints and no charges from anyone. You don't hold an investigation unless there is something to investigate."

Gorge Escape?

Detectives Recover $80 Jade Pendant

Saanich detectives have recovered a jade pendant stolen from a Gorge Road motel overnight Wednesday and they have arrested a juvenile in connection with the prowling of a Burnside home Tuesday morning.

The $80 pendant was stolen from the motel room of four U.S. tourists.

FOUND ON BANK

Personal papers, wallets and purses were found Friday with the pendant on the banks of the Gorge, where they had been washed ashore. Travellers' cheques worth $800 and $900 cash stolen in the robbery have not turned up.

The thief is thought to have dived into Gorge waters while being pursued by police with a tracking dog.

DUE IN COURT

A 16-year-old youth will appear in juvenile court next week in connection with the Burnside home prowling Tuesday. He was traced by Saanich detectives after a 16-year-old girl found a prowler kneeling beside her bed. When the girl awoke washed ashore. Travellers' cheques worth $800 and $900 cash stolen in the robbery have not turned up.

Sociologists Gather In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Experts on society-in-ferment will crisscross a dense conference rooms today as sociologists from all over the United States gather here for the first meetings of their professional organizations beyond their own borders.

Some 2,000 delegates are scheduled to attend the sessions which, over a five-day period, will include the annual conventions of the American Sociological Association and the Society for the Study of Social Problems.

Today will see the start of the ESSP's two-day convention. The ASA's meeting opens Sunday and continues into Thursday. Three Montreal universities have arranged for the gatherings.

Already in session and ending Sunday is the three-day annual meeting of the American Catholic Sociological Society.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The great comedy team of Burns and Allen has been broken with the death by heart attack of Gracie Allen, whose nitwit fantasies charmed two generations. She was 58.

The comedienne died late Thursday night in hospital, after suffering a heart attack at her Beverly Hills home. George Burns, her partner in show business for 36 years and in marriage for 38, rode with her in an ambulance to the hospital.

YOU'LL BE OKAY

"It's all right, honey," he told her repeatedly. "You'll be okay."

Mrs. Burns was taken to a private room where she died with her husband at her side. She had experienced mild heart attacks in the past, but appeared in good health until Thursday evening.

Her death brought a close to one of show business' closest partnerships in vaudeville, radio, movies and television. Burns and Allen were seldom separated during their marriage and each was vocal in admiration for the other.

FAVORITE PERSON

"My favorite person is George," she once said. "She made me a success after years and years of failure."

George has remarked. The team was formed in 1922, when Burns was coming to the end of another in a long line of unsuccessful partnerships in vaudeville. Born Nathan Birnbaum in New York in 1896, he had been stagestruck since boyhood, but had never been able to break out of the small time.

TRIES NEW ACT

He decided to try a new act with a San Francisco-born girl he met in New Jersey. She was Grace Ethel Cecile Rosalie Allen, daughter of a song and dance man, graduate of a dance act with her three sisters, and a part-time secretary.

George wrote the new act with himself as comedian, but Gracie's wide-eyed brand of nonsense got the laughs.

Got a Match?

Modern fire prevention methods might make their job a little tougher, but these three members of the Fort Henry, Ont., guard are probably wondering how it would go if they went through with the re-enactment of the burning of the White House by British troops 150 years ago. They are visiting Washington as a peaceful gesture to commemorate the incident in the war of 1812. — (Fednews)

Strike-Hit Flights Depart Gander

GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — Two chartered aircraft were given permission Friday night to complete their flights to the United States with 130 American students, faculty members, wives and children who had been stranded here en route home from summer schools in England.

The flights were delayed when flight engineers and mechanics refused to cross stewardesses' picket lines.

A spokesman for the stranded groups said before departure that a Teamsters' union official had granted the stewardesses permission to complete the flight.

Where's the Fire? At Your House!

HAMILTON—When Harvey Ireland of Hamilton was stopped by a Michigan state trooper Friday he expected the officer to ask him where the fire was.

The officer didn't ask, he told him—back in the Ireland's home in Hamilton.

An hour after the family left for a one-month trip through the United States, fire gutted their home.

Fire officials said the kitchen stove had been left on.

HOLLYWOOD—Australian-born actor Rod Taylor flew from Ireland, where he is filming a movie, to Hollywood, when he heard that his wife, former fashion model Mary Millem, had entered hospital to have a baby. Taylor visited with his wife, saw his baby, then flew back to Ireland.

VANCOUVER—Fred Krums dunned 2,000 pennies on the traffic court counter here to pay a $20 fine for failing to stop at a stop sign, but the officer was refused on the basis of the Currency Act which states that more than 25 pennies need not be accepted as legal tender.

LONDON—Policewoman Margaret Cleland, 23, who helped rescue a child from his father, who was threatening to throw it from a rooftop, has been awarded the George Medal.

NORTHALLERTON, England—Joseph Wilbur, 54, collapsed at the wheel of a milk truck and died. Told about it, Joseph's brother William, 60, collapsed and died as he was walking across the same road.

NEW YORK—Angie McGowan, 15, was promised a meeting with the Beatles today after she returned a St. Christopher medal to Ringo Starr, one of the mop-topped Beatles quartet. She had yanked it from his neck in a crowd a few hours earlier.

Peron

Clelland

VANCOUVER—William Peron, 65, whose record shows 48 convictions for breaking and entering, theft, car prowling, and other offenses dating back to 1923, has been sentenced to preventative detention as an habitual criminal.

WASHINGTON—The Republican national committee announced that among those forming a "Johnson for Goldwater-Miller committee" is Lyndon Johnson, 21, from North Dakota, Minn.

PORT OF SPAIN—Twenty-three-year-old Lynda Phillip stopped traffic when she appeared on the street "wearing" a hairless colt. She explained she had her head shaved to "put Trinidad on the map."

Peronist ex-congressman Eduardo Celon asked an Argentine juvenile court to drop charges of statutory rape against ousted president Juan D. Peron in the case of Nelly Rivas, the teenager who was his mistress when he was overthrown in 1955.

CLOVERDALE—Barry Mather, member of Parliament for New Westminster, was nominated to represent the New Democratic Party again in the next federal election. Mr. Mather was first elected to the Commons in 1962.

Canadian lady bullfighter Carolyn Hayward was awarded a billing in Cuernavaca, tourist resort near Mexico City, which she considers her most important appearance to date.

Walter "Angel Face" Frobyn, 33, has escaped from Dartmoor Prison, his 18th escape from various jails and reform schools. He was serving a five-year burglary term.

PORTSMOUTH, England—A "guaranteed haunted" sea chest with a murky past found a home today with salesman Tom Parry, 34, who "is not interested in ghosts — he just wants to keep clothes in it."

LONDON—When his wife, Suzanne divorced him last December, wealthy artist Timothy Phillips, 34, asked a real estate agent to sell their Spanish mansion "where we were truly happy." Phillips said today he was "staggered" to find out that the agent had sold the mansion to Jonathan Guinness — Suzanne's new husband.

BURNABY—Magistrate Charles C. Bell died while vacationing at his summer cabin at Horseshy Lake in the Cariboo.

MOSCOW—The Soviet town of Stauropol has been renamed Togilatli, in honor of Palmiro Togliatti, the leader of the Italian Communist party, who died a week ago.

LAS VEGAS—Friends of Glynis Wolfe, former Hollywood hotel man, says he has taken his 16th wife, Doreen I. Rankin, from Pasco, Wash.

'World's Greatest' Boat Rider Is Toast of New York Fair

NEW YORK (CP)—A 45-year-old South Ste. Marie, Mich., lumberjack who made a 2,000-mile rowboat trip from his home town to New York was the toast of the world's fair today.

Anthony (Seaway) Calery rowed into the fair's marina Thursday and was welcomed by top fair officials.

"I'm the greatest boat rider in the world," said Calery, a bachelor. "I'm just the greatest in the world, that's all."

"People were good to me along the way. Many times they would see the coming down a river or pull up to a lake shore and they would offer me a meal or lodging."

Calery, a lumberjack who tips the scales at 200, was vague about his reason for making the 75-day trip.

"For kicks," he said at first, then added, "anyway, I like to go places and do things. I'm just that kind of a guy."

Calery rowed by day and slept by night anywhere he could find a place to lay his head down, often sleeping in his 16-foot, 110-pound boat.

He said he probably will remain in New York for several days and return to Michigan by train.

Takeover Bids Ignored

VANCOUVER (CP)—Shareholders of Sheep Creek Mines Ltd., Friday ignored two takeover bids and gave directors a massive and unprecedented vote of confidence.

Holders of 1,240,947 of the 1,800,000 shares outstanding voted to re-elect the directors and to increase their pay. At the same time 125 shareholders attending the company's annual meeting applauded reports of favorable mining and investment progress.

It was the largest number of shareholders to attend a meeting and the greatest number of shares voted in the 30-year history of the company.

Meanwhile, the company was drilling five holes at a copper prospect in Oregon to see if underground results stand up to surface indications.

Falling Workman Aimed at Shoulder

A 35-year-old construction worker who fell 75 feet and lived to tell about it said yesterday he tried to land on his left shoulder.

Silvano Scattola, Wednesday fell from the eighth floor of a high-rise apartment under construction at Dallas and South Turner.

During his fall, he knew he was going to hit a pile of steel rods which were used to reinforce concrete.

He said he tried to twist himself around to land on his left shoulder and roll—and he was successful.

The worst injury is a dislocated shoulder, the one he landed on. Other injuries are head cuts, bruises and cracked ribs.

And the fact that he plunged 75 feet doesn't seem to worry him, as far as his job goes.

"When I get out of the hospital I want to go back on the same job," he says. "I've been with the company a long time. What happened was an accident."

Student Aid Fund Boosted $90,000

The cabinet Friday ordered a $90,000 increase to the $600,000 appropriation for scholarships to aid B.C. students attending university.

Acting education minister Ray Williston said the increase was needed for a greater number of qualified applicants.

Longtime Caddy 'Titch' Dead of Heart Attack

An 87-year-old man who was known to hundreds of golfers here over the past three generations died of a heart attack, it was learned yesterday.

William "Titch" Walsh, whose body was found Thursday in waters off the fifth fairway of Victoria Golf Club, where he was a caddy for 40 years, died of a heart seizure.

A post mortem was performed Friday.

Mr. Walsh was the oldest caddy in Canada.

Funeral services will be held in McCall Bros. funeral chapel at 1:15 p.m. Monday.

Sgt. Robert Mair is honored by fellow city policemen

Robert Mair Funeral Police Honor Dead Sergeant

Full police honors were accorded city police Sgt. Robert Mair whose funeral service was held Friday afternoon at McCall's Chapel with Bishop G. D. Rankin of the Church of Our Lord officiating.

The chapel was filled with friends and associates who came to pay their last respects to the popular police sergeant.

A private family funeral service was held following the public service.

A ceremonial police guard of honor was in attendance at the chapel.

Pall bearers were Sgts. John Mason, Keith Hollett, Richard Ward, Edward Hardy and Constables Murray MacArthur and Clifford Harrison.

Honorary pall bearers were Detectives Norman Bath, Richard Berry and James Baxter, and Sgt. Thomas Benister (ret.).

One of Worst

Fire at Lytton Burns 600 Acres

Four water bombers and 50 men have been thrown into the fight against one of the most serious B.C. forest fires of the year which has ravaged 600 acres in the vicinity of Lytton in the Fraser Canyon.

The forest service reported Friday that attempts are still being made to contain the fire which is burning in scrub and immature timber.

Cause of the fire is believed to have been berry-pickers. This section of the province is the only one reporting a high fire hazard. Elsewhere rain and generally cool temperatures are restricting the spread of 35 fires still reported burning. During the week 57 new fires were reported.

A series of storms are expected to bring more rain next week, assisting the crews fighting the Lytton fire.

Canadian Control For Constitution?

Premier Bennett said Friday that a plan to transfer control of Canada's constitution from London to Ottawa will be discussed at the Confederation conference in Charlottetown, P.E.I., next week.

At a press conference the premier would not divulge details, but said he is confident the dominion provincial meeting would agree to such a scheme.

Mr. Bennett said the provincial attorneys-general have been drafting a plan that would result in agreement between Ottawa and the provinces for bringing the constitution under Canadian control.

100th ANNIVERSARY

He leaves Sunday for the two-day conference, which opens Tuesday, to mark the 100th anniversary of the first meeting of the Fathers of Confederation in Charlottetown.

It was a headline with a built-in chuckle: "Committee Will Study Frick's Job."

One can hear the fummens: "Well, it's about time somebody did."

"Ford Frick has just reached for the rye bottle," Tom Meany, the toastmaster, announced from the dais at a party in Sher's one night. "It is his first positive move in four years."

Everybody laughed, though the baseball commissioner's hilarity was a trifle pale. He had been hearing and reading words to the same effect ever since the big leagues decided that, if they had to have a house dick, the least they could do was to pick one who was toned.

Let's get it on the record now, perhaps to be repeated once when the commissioner packs it in after the 1965 world series: the popular conception of Ford Frick as a do-nothing administrator and a compliant tool of the men who pay his wages has never been accepted here.

There have been more than a few occasions when one would have rejoiced to see him take a firmer, tougher stand than he did. But like Cynara's literary friend, Mr. Dowson, he has been faithful in his fashion.

By and large, it says here, his fashion was eminently suited to the times in which he served. It would not have been suited to the time of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, but it was deservingly so desired after baseball's experience with the prating politician who preceded Frick.

No three men could have approached one job with more widely differing views of how it should be handled. Big league baseball, in terror for its life after the crooked world series of 1919, buried its tearstained face in Landis' bony knees and sobbed "Save us, judge, save us!"

Judge Saves the Game

It was a situation tailored for the flamboyant old tyrant. He demanded and received—from everybody except Phil Ball, of the Browns—a pledge of unquestioning obedience, he made up his own rules as he went along, and he enforced them inflexibly. If there were grounds for the owners' fears that baseball was in mortal danger when the Judge moved in, he saved the game.

A. B. Chandler was hired during the Second World War when baseball thought it needed a friend with connections in Washington. The greatest commissioner since Landis felt he was earning his pay if he sang, slobbered, and slumped in public.

When Happy Chandler retired due to illness—the owners got sick of him—Frick became baseball's third commissioner. He did not see himself as a czar or as a vaudeville act. He saw the job as purely administrative, a task of enforcing the rules agreed on by the owners. He did that as well as any man could, although some of the rules—notably those regarding bonus players—were unenforceable per se.

Good and evil balanced each other out in his administration. On the side of evil, the carpetbaggers moved in, playing fast-and-loose with franchises, taking a lot of the fun out of the game by making it clear that baseball was all business and no part sport. In Ford's time the majors ate up the minors, and that's not good.

No Whiff of Scandal

On the other side, there has been no faint whiff of scandal in the Frick administration. This isn't necessarily a score for the commissioner, for the competitive integrity of baseball was pretty well established before he moved in. Yet it was scandal that brought Landis into the picture and there was corruption in the minors in Chandler's time. (He said it was none of his business.)

The majors have never known such prosperity as they have enjoyed under Frick. His administration has seen unprecedented attendance in the big leagues, million dollar television contracts, and establishment of a pension plan unmatched in any other industry.

Frick's time was a time of genuine expansion in the majors. To be sure, there has been some reckless shifting of franchises and it is not expansion when you merely close a store on one corner and open on another. But both leagues added two teams, bringing big league ball to virgin territory, and most of the operations are financially sound.

Ford did not favor some of the moves, but he did not believe he had the authority to interfere in matters that were the private business of the National or American League.

He consoled himself that, up to now, the majors had not abandoned any city altogether. New York, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, and Washington were never left without a club.

This may not continue to be true. There is good reason to believe that pretty soon the majors will quit Milwaukee, Kansas City, and Cleveland altogether. That'll be another commissioner's problem.

Greaves and Luckies Settle Island Crown

Greaves Movers take on Courtney Luckies Sunday in Royal Athletic Park at 2 p.m. In the final Senior Amateur baseball game to decide the Island's second entry in the provincial championships will be held here next week.

The best-of-three series tied 1-1.

If Greaves' stunning 7-2 victory over Transport Workers Thursday, is any indication of what Greaves plan to dish up for the visitors the game could turn into a real battle-of-the-batters.

Greaves will start George Brice on the mound with Des Moines ready to take over if Brice runs into trouble.

Olsen Decisions Wayne Thornton

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Aging Bobo Olsen, who held the middleweight title 10 years ago, renewed his bid for a light heavyweight championship shot by pouncing out a unanimous decision Friday night over young Wayne Thornton.

Olsen, 34, of San Francisco, and weighing 177½, carried the fight to the 17th-round Franco, Calif., Irishman throughout the televised battle in Kassar Pavilion.

Olsen boosted his chances of meeting 175-pound champion Willie Pastrano with the title at stake.

Friday night it was supposed to have been Bobo against Pastrano in a 10-round non-title affair but the champ withdrew when he had to undergo minor surgery.

Referee Frankie Carter, who several times warned Thornton for clinching and kidney punching, scored the bout 63-54, Judge Jack Downey also had it 63-54 and Judge Elmer Costa 54-64, both for Olsen.

Don McCormick Wins, Loses

MONTREAL—Victoria's Don McCormick lost his Junior Davis Cup singles match, 63-75, to Neil McAffee of New Zealand yesterday.

McCormick, however, teamed with Pierre Lamarche of Montreal to beat McAffee and Greene Elliott of New Zealand 5-7, 7-5, 11-9, in the doubles.

EDMONTON (CP)—Saskatchewan Roughriders scored touchdowns the first three times they handled the ball Friday night and blasted Edmonton Eskimos 56-8 in a Western Football Conference game before 12,807 fans.

Roughriders led 21-0 after the first quarter and 42-0 at half-time.

Ed Buchanan, the league's leading ground-gainer, had great holes in the Eskimo line and scored two touchdowns. The major scoring production was provided by end Hugh Campbell, who took three scoring passes from quarterback Ron Lancaster.

Single touchdowns were added by Lancaster, Jack Gotta and Bob Good. Gerry James kicked seven converts and Martin Ficki hoofed a single from a kickoff.

Newcomer Bill Tobin smashed over on a one-yard plunge for the Edmonton touchdown. Final Eskimo points were collected on a safety touch.

MOVE AHEAD QUICKLY Riders needed only nine plays from the kickoff to go ahead. Lancaster hit Campbell in the right flat for the score.

Next time Riders got the ball, they scored even faster. On the first play after a punt, Buchanan followed brilliant blocking for a 75-yard touchdown.

Before the end of the first quarter, Saskatchewan gained possession on its 16 after a field goal attempt by Bill Mitchell was wide. A march, highlighted by Buchanan's 47-yard burst with a screen pass, resulted in a 14-yard toss to Campbell for another touchdown.

KEY PENALTY The demolition continued in the second quarter with the aid of an Edmonton holding penalty.

After Gary Hertzfeldt, second of two unsuccessful Edmonton quarterbacks, fumbled on the Edmonton 44, four plays moved the ball to the 15 Edmonton was penalized for holding and Saskatchewan had first down on the eight. Lancaster scrambled over all alone and James converted to put Saskatchewan ahead 28-0.

On the kickoff, Sammy Harris chiseled it into the end zone and conceded the point to kicker Martin Ficki.

INTERCEPTS FARM Both Edmonton scores were set up by pass interceptions. An attempted toss to Gotta was picked off by Mike Wicklum to set up Tobin's first touchdown in the Canadian Football League.

Wicklum rambled from mid-field to the Saskatchewan 17. Edmonton needed four plays before Tobin's lightning across. Mitchell's convert attempt was blocked.

From the kickoff, Lancaster engineered an 88-yard march in nine plays, plus an Edmonton penalty. The drive ended with a 13-yard pass to Gotta.

FUMBLE HURTS A fumble by Jim Thomas led to Saskatchewan's sixth touchdown. Gene Wasiuk picked up the ball at the 17 and three plays later Good cut inside the flag at the right end.

A spectacular interception and run back by middleguard Al Eucyer led to the safety touch, when fullback George Reed was hauled down in his end zone.

Smythe Overdue On Lease Reply

VANCOUVER (CP)—Toronto's Stafford Smythe, dickering for a site to build a mammoth sports coliseum in Vancouver, in three days overdue on his reply to city council's latest terms.

Mayor Bill Rathie said Friday if he doesn't have an answer by Monday, he'll "get in touch to find out what's happened."

He said if Smythe still wants the two downtown blocks for $11 million and council's offer of a 15-year lease—he still is "fairly confident that a lease basis could be worked out with somebody."

This statement was taken to mean that the mayor would favor inviting other developers to make counter-offers if the Toronto Maple Leaf president insists on a clear title to the land.

Mayor Rathie said he is not in favor of giving away $200,000 worth of property to anyone. Smythe started the ball rolling by offering to build the $80,000,000 coliseum, primarily for hockey, if council would make available land with no strings attached. He told council here Aug. 19 he would consult with Leaf directors on the lease terms and try to have an answer by last Tuesday, Aug. 25.

Bantam Footballers Start Registrations

Officials of the Norm Field, begin Bantam football league registration pre-season procedure today with the registration of boys.

Boys between the ages of 12 and 15 and weighing up to 152 pounds are invited to register at the YMCA building on Blanshard St. between nine and 11 a.m. today.

Boys wishing further information concerning registration are asked to phone league president Colin Creighton at 382-2625.

Junior Cagers Set Plans

A year ago Victoria Chinooks weren't. They had no uniforms, no league, no sponsor and no money. Now, a year of hard work later, Chinooks are the defending champions of the Inter-City Junior Men's Basketball League and go into the coming season with nearly everything working for them.

"This season we've got a league franchise, sponsors, equipment, uniforms and a little money in the bank," team president Harold Turner said last night.

EARLY SHOCKER Last season Chinooks pulled a shocker by winning the Inter-City league championship in their first year of competition.

Most of last year's team will be back, and with them, a new coaching system which Turner feels will help to streamline the organization.

Ollie Goldsmith has been appointed the club's head coach, replacing a two-coach setup the team used last year. Dasher Jackson and Howard Tooby handled the coaching last season, and Jackson will stay on to help Goldsmith. "But Ollie will have complete charge of the team," Turner says.

"Things move pretty quickly in basketball and a lot can happen before two coaches can make a decision."

THREE GRADES Mike Gallo, John McKeachie and Maury Turner are the only players to graduate to senior ranks from last year's team. Gary Grunlund, however, will be working in Port Alberni and will not be with the club.

Goldsmith has already approached some high school graduates he would like to fill the holes. Among these is forward Barney Spivey, whose rebounding helped Victoria High School to the Island championship last year.

Orioles, Sox Split Yanks Bow, 5-3

By the Canadian Press

Baltimore Orioles hit three homers to crush Chicago 8-3, earning a split in Friday's doubleheader that kept the Orioles in first place in the American League pennant race.

The White Sox won the opener 3-1 on Floyd Robinson's two-run single in the ninth.

The split left Baltimore a half-game ahead of Chicago and 4½ games ahead of the third-place New York Yankees.

Norm Siebera slammed a two-run homer to snap a 1-1 tie in the third inning of the second game. Brooks Robinson followed with another homer, and

Garden Notes

It's Time to Think

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRBS

At this season of the year, the smart gardener will take some time off from the routine chores of mowing, weeding, staking and watering and, arming himself with a notebook and pencil, will get himself settled down comfortably in a deckchair to review the results of his labors. While there is a momentary lull in garden activity now, the busy days of fall will soon be upon us, and decisions must be made on any alterations or improvements necessary.

In most gardens, there is considerable room for improvement. Not only in garden design—a very common fault in this respect is lack of sufficient depth in the flower beds—but especially in the choice of plants. Too often our gardens are stocked with the commonest and least attractive varieties of shrubs and perennial flowers when the space they occupy might just as well be filled with the real beauties of their families. It is always a bit of a puzzle to me why a family that wouldn't be seen dead in a five-year-old car will tolerate 1905 models in their garden.

After all, if we are going to put in a lot of time and labor in cultivating flowers and shrubs, isn't it a bit silly to grow anything less than the best? The good ones cost very little more, they are just as easy to manage, and they pay so much better rent for the ground they occupy, in the coin of beauty and satisfaction.

And the smaller the garden, the more choosy we should be in the flowers and plants selected to occupy our limited space. This is particularly the case with perennial flowers. We find ourselves nursing along an inferior delphinium or phlox, probably passed over the fence by some kindly neighbor, giving it a prominent place in one of our front beds, when in reality it is a poor, weedy thing in comparison with the modern varieties turned out by the plant breeders after years of painstaking breeding and selection.

We grow masses of the single gypsophila when a few plants of the double variety Bristol Fairy would be so much more effective. We grow the old-fashioned Bleeding Heart that remains in bloom for about ten days at the longest when we could just as easily have the long-blooming Bountiful. And as for the fall asters, nearly all of us have been content to allow the old rampant types of Michaelmas daisies to take possession of our beds when a few dollars invested with the nurseryman would yield years and years of dividends in the grace and glowing colors of the modern varieties.

We are devoting valuable space and hours of labor to lilies with washed-out, muddy colors when we could just as easily have the tawny chestnut and burnished copper shades, the clear, sparkling blues and the fascinating flamingo pinks.

These are just a few examples chosen at random to make my point, and this is the season to look over the garden with a critical and unprejudiced eye, deciding which plants are to be given the old heave-ho and which are to be ordered to replace them. A few up-to-date nursery catalogues make profitable reading for this time of year.

Wonderful Idea, Says JOHN CROSBY

A Guy Needs an Ombudsman

LONDON—The British are debating whether it's a good idea to introduce the ombudsman.

An ombudsman—that's a terrible name but you'll just have to put along—is a guy the citizen goes to when he's mad at being pushed around by some government official.

They are an entrenched part of the administration in Sweden and Denmark which have cradled the grave socialism.

The ordinary citizen in those countries—in fact, in most countries in Europe—is likely to run into government bureaucrats somewhere during any working day, whether he's going to the post office or the hospital or the pension office or getting insurance or asking for permits to speak or leave the country or get an export licence.

If he runs into unreasonable delay or injustice or simple heartlessness or — what is characteristic of bureaucrats all over the world — just plain procedural nonsense, he complains to the ombudsman. The ombudsman investigates to find out why things are done slowly, badly, heartlessly, or unjustly.

Well, of course, there are all kinds of other official methods and procedures for checking up on government offices. But the great virtue of the ombudsman is that he starts on the citizen level.

All other kinds of investigations of malpractices and injustices or what have you start with one official calling another official names. Or one party accusing the opposition party.

Those guys haven't really got the citizen's interests that much to heart. They're doing it for political advancement or malice or some other reason.

Actually, the newspapers have traditionally played the role of ombudsman, but they haven't the space or the time or, increasingly, the inclination in an age preoccupied with Viet Nam, Cuba, elections and other huge matters to take one guy's complaints to heart.

The whole idea of the ombudsman—and, my God, what a good idea!—is that when you or I wander into the post office or the police or any of the other array of official departments, that we get waited on. Justly, wisely, and quickly. Department stores have complaint departments, but practically nobody else has.

I think it's marvellous the Swedes and the Danes (New Zealand has an ombudsman, too) have a guy they can go blow off steam to.

There's a crying need for ombudsmen even outside the government. Where is a teamster to go if he has a complaint about the way his pension or insurance or job security demands are being ignored, delayed, sidetracked? To a union official? Don't be silly.

Most of the organizations set up to protect individuals are now as big, as rigid, as heartless, as bureaucratic as the government—if not more so.

There are too many organizations to represent the interests of all actors or all auto workers or the whole steel industry, but there's practically nobody to run to for the problems of just one guy.

The ombudsman is an attempt to return to the level of the individual.

I suppose, if we ever get the ombudsman system in North America, it'll get so big we'll have to find ombudsman investigators to find out why the ombudsmen are so slow, so rigid, so heartless, and so bureaucratic in investigating our complaints.

Sybil Dines with Clift

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Leftover items from around the world: Sybil Burton dining with Montgomery Clift at Caprice in London. And now that Liza and Richard Burton have left New York, the first Mrs. B. will be returning to her West Side apartment. A catty-corner table away from Sybil and Monty, Stewart Granger with his new young Belgian beauty-winner wife and his tall young son. Granger has been making a slewful of films in Italy. He would like to make some in his native England.

Janet Gaynor at her home in Laie on the island of Oahu in Hawaii, discussed with me the decline of glamour in Hollywood. "Glamour went out when the candid camera came in," said Janet, who won the very first Oscar in the very late 20s. "The idea behind the candid camera is to see how awful movie stars can look, not how glamorous. This more than anything else, has hurt motion picture attendance."

Raya Harearet, with the man she loves, director Jack Cardiff, in London. She seems to have given up the Hollywood movie career she started in Ben Hur. "I am happy to be with Jack wherever he has to live." He is separated from his wife but no divorce apparently is in sight.

Columbia's Lord Jim with Peter O'Toole in the title role will take longer to score than expected. So it will not be a contender next April for an Oscar. The release date now is February 1965. Peter is currently playing God's messenger in The Bible for Dino de Laurentiis. His role runs all through the film.

Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows: "We went to Hiroshima and they thanked us for coming to visit them—they thanked us!" Otto Preminger follows in Harriet's Way, with Bunny Lake in his next May in London. "Who will start?" I asked Otto. He shook his head. "No casting yet. First we must get a good script." Smart lad. Too many directors start without a completed script. Shades of Cleopatra!

The Beatles were the most important people in Los Angeles last week. But that was not the reason why Liz and Dick went off for their home in Puerto Vallarta in Mexico. They start their new picture in a couple of weeks in Northern California, and complete it in Europe for the usual combined fee, $1,500,000 plus 20 per cent of the gross. And there's nothing gross about that. I was amused at Burton's statement that Liz will be giving up her acting career. She has promised to do this every time she marries. But something always interferes—usually a divorce.

Ursula Andress will be playing the sensuous blonde in Casino Royale, the first James Bond story written by Ian Fleming, who died recently of a heart attack. Ian was as interesting as his fictional character. I will miss him and his unburn books. Before Casino Royale, Miss Andress plays the fabulous everlasting heroine of Rider Haggard's She who finally disintegrates into a puff of dust.

Harve Presnell was paid $200,000 for the movie version of The Unsinkable Molly Brown. For his upcoming stage appearance in Vienna in The Meistersinger, he will be paid exactly $10,000. "It is important for an actor to work in the theatre," says Harve, "or he loses touch with the touchstone of his career." Markus Brandt should have remembered this. When he came to Hollywood to play a wartime paraplegic in The Men then to repeat this stage role in A Streetcar Named Desire, it was understood that the theatre was his real love and he would be returning constantly to Broadway. It is years and years since Marlon trotted those Broadway boards.

Machine Teaches Children to Read

NEW YORK (AP)—Teachers need not worry, but a sophisticated computer system has taught a group of children in Freeport, N.Y., how to read without formal human instruction. Here's how it works: A child goes into a booth where he is alone with a "talking typewriter." He touches a letter key on the multi-colored keyboard and the computer responds by pronouncing and typing the letter.

John Henry Martin, superintendent of Freeport public schools, reported that the children who learned reading from the computer in 30 hours "could read significantly better" than others taught by traditional methods.

Called "the Edison Responsive Environment System," the computer talks, listens, presents pictorial and graphic material and even comments and explains. As for teachers, they merely observed the child's progress through an unseen one-way viewing mirror.

Laboratory Ship
Launching Friday

Launching ceremony for the Pacific Naval Laboratory's new defence research ship CNAV Endeavour has been set for 5:15 p.m. Friday.

The first ship of its kind specifically designed in Canada for this role, it will be sponsored by Mrs. A. H. Zimmerman, wife of the chairman of the defence research board of Canada.

The 235-foot ship will be delivered to the laboratory in February.

Visiting Warships
Open to Public

The visiting Japanese destroyers will be open to the public from 9 a.m. until noon today. The ships are at B and C jetties in HMC Dockyard.

The U.S. radar picket ship USS Interpreter will hold open house from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday. The ship is at the government jetty adjacent to HMCS Naden.

All five ships will leave Sunday.

Seeks Saanich Reeveship

Seat on Council Open
After Curtis Resigns

Coun. Hugh Curtis has resigned from Saanich council to seek the reeveship in the Oct. 24 byelection.

When Saanich voters go to the polls in October they will now have to choose a councillor as well as a reeve.

Coun. Curtis handed in his resignation Friday to Municipal Clerk Gordon Hayward, and the latter probably will be dealt with at the Sept. 8 council meeting.

WILL HIT ON

The resignation will become effective the day Coun. Curtis' successor takes office. In the meantime, Coun. Curtis will continue to sit in his former capacity.

The byelection, which will be held less than two months before the regular December municipal election, was brought about by the recent resignation of Reeve Stanley Murphy, who is taking up a teaching post in Southern Rhodesia.

LUM CONTENTS

The only other announced contender for the reeveship so far is motel operator Ed Lum who came within 184 votes of tying Mr. Murphy in the December, 1963, municipal election.

But Coun. Curtis has a lot in his favor, too. He led the polls when he first ran for councillor in 1961 and topped the polls when he stood for re-election in 1963.

FOUR IN RACE

In line for Coun. Curtis' chair will be department store salesman Donald Mathison, contractor William Campbell, Lt.-Cmdr. Harry Shergold, RCN, and Victoria fire fighter Edward Ball.

Mr. Ball was elected 5th vice-president of Dominion Command of Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans organization at that group's convention which ended Friday in Saskatoon.

Luxton's
Lively Shindig

By KEN JOHNSON

The cocks were crowing even if it was mid-afternoon. The cattle were lowing and hens clucking too, while the brightly-colored flags flapped in the afternoon sun. Nearby, the whirl and twirl of the midway whizzed into life.

It was the sawdust-scented opening, Friday, of the Luxton Annual Fall Fair—one of B.C.'s oldest community shindigs that keeps alive the homespun spirit.

It's been held-on and off—since 1897 and the folks come from far and wide to look and speculate while the cattle, poultry, vegetables, home-cooking and other exhibits are on display.

The men folk proudly toted their prize bulls, cows, calves, chickens, cockerels and hens — and huffed and heaved in the tug o' war.

The women showed off their home cooking, and their toddlers in the Colonist baby contest.

Meanwhile, the youngsters were having the times of their lives riding the midway or waiting to see if their paintings and handwork would win a prize.

The two-day fair brought blue ribbons for the farming Fernie sisters of William Head.

Familiar faces at the fair each year, Misses Mary and Daphne Fernie who operate their Metchosin farm together, took top honors in the dairy produce and home-canning and cooking sections with their entries.

It's the eighth time they've taken away the Woodward's perpetual trophy for their dairy produce.

It was blue-ribbon day, too, for four-month-old Kimberley Ann Hamilton, 3249 Clement Road, Colwood. She won The Daily Colonist trophy in the baby show. Accompanying her at the fair was her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hamilton and sister, Tammy-Leah, 16 months.

Home-made pastries, pies, cookies, bread and cakes shared the tables with pickled onions, beetroot and bottled jams for the Douglas Chidlow Hall.

In the various barns and stables, at the Luxton grounds, rabbits, poultry, cattle, handicrafts and vegetables came under the eyes of the judges.

There were king-sized cabbages and pumpkins, huge Angora rabbits nibbling in their hutches and burly bulls and soft-eyed Jerseys chewing their cud in the stalls.

There was a junior gymkhana in the paddock, the crowning of the new Fair Queen, and a tug o' war between two voluntary fire department teams, Langford and Metchosin. Langford won.

The fair continues today at 10 a.m. Official opening is at 1:30 p.m. by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes. Highlights of the day include a senior gymkhana at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.; a grand parade at 11 a.m. from Belmont High School to the fair grounds; 4-H demonstrations from 2:30 p.m.

Providing the biggest thrill for today will be the Silk Angels Sky Diving Team at 4 p.m.

Prizes will be presented at 4:30 p.m. and the fall-fair roundup will be a big dance in the hall at 8 p.m. (Yesterday's results, Page 2.)

'This Sure Cheers Me Up'

Retiring Luxton Fall Fair Queen 13-year-old Donna Chidlow, couldn't be at the fair Friday to crown the new queen.

Donna, 3670 Happy Valley Road, has been lying sick in St. Joseph's Hospital for more than a week.

But although she missed the fun of the fair, young Donna had a special treat last night.

New queen, Yvonne Smith, 14, 1063 Dunford Avenue, Langford, and her princesses Andrea Gieskiw, 11, 800 Kildew, Colwood, and Lenora Hamilton, 13, 2611 Happy Valley Road, paid her a surprise visit.

They took her a basket of fruit from the fair and a "get well soon" message from all the friends who missed her.

Donna, who has a leg complaint, was overjoyed when her visitors popped into ward 408.

"I don't know how soon I'll be out," she said. "But this sure cheers me up."

Her place was taken at the crowning ceremony by her sister Peggy, one of last year's princesses.

Elderly City Man Beaten

Don Campbell enjoying a day off ... Ruth Hill working hard ... Tom Hanna answering the phone ... Penelope St. Martin planning a trip up-island ... Ash Walden waving from a truck.

A plucky elderly storekeeper was knocked to the floor and $50 was taken from the till at Martin's Grocery, 758 Humboldt, Friday night.

Within an hour city detectives Richard Berry and Norman Bath arrested a 20-year-old man. Later two more arrests were made.

Store proprietor Gust Martin, 202 Howe Street, was questioned by detectives and taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment. Within minutes after the robbery a car slammed into a tree at Vancouver and McClure. A suspect was held by police for questioning.

Mr. Martin was still shaking from the shock of his experience when questioned last night. "A man came in and picked up a loaf of bread and carried it to the counter. I thought he was going to buy some cereal and when I turned my back he hit me."

Mr. Martin said he fumbled his glasses off and tried to fight back but was knocked to the ground. He said while the battle was going on a second man came in and rifled the till. The grocer's fall knocked several boxes from cereal shelves.

Both men fled but Mr. Martin said the man who hit him first returned and scuffled with him again then ran for a car that was parked in the middle of the block.

"I couldn't get the licence number."

Later at the station a young man who was brought in for questioning made a run for the door of the police station but was quickly headed off.

Detectives questioned the suspect for more than an hour before laying a charge.

Police Station-Courthouse
Possible Without the Frills

By eliminating all the frills it may still be possible to have a police station-municipal courthouse combination in the civic precinct, Mayor R. B. Wilson said Friday.

He conditioned his statement, however, with the remark that it all depends on the result of studies now in progress.

Emergency meetings were held Friday on the crisis, caused by the fact that the lowest tender for the construction project was $168,000 higher than the architect's estimate for the buildings.

Three bids were received at a special meeting of council on Thursday. The lowest was $467,806 and the highest $485,500.

The estimate for the renovation of the present police building and construction of the adjacent municipal courthouse was $299,110.

Aldermen sat in shocked surprise when the tenders were opened, one after another, and they compared them to estimates.

CONSIDER ANGLES

"We still have $250,000 left after we have considered all angles," said Mayor Wilson, "and it is too early to say that nothing can be done. It is too early to say much of anything, as a matter of fact."

City Manager Dennis Young said that it was highly unlikely that council would go to the people for more money.

PLAN SUBMITTED

An alderman, who did not wish his name used, agreed. Had council known this spring, when the capital budget plan was submitted to the ratepayers for their approval, it could have asked for $450,000 or even $500,000 for the project and it would have been granted.

Instead only $375,000 was sought, of which approximately $75,000 was for furniture, heating, fees and contingencies. Because this amount was inadequate was hardly reason to go crying back to the ratepayers for more money, said the alderman.

Joint Services Board

Reeve Fearful
Of Railroading

Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox fears the provincial government might railroad Greater Victoria municipalities into a joint services board "whether we like it or not."

And he believes the study group meetings dealing with the proposed board are being held "to try to induce us to agree in order to make the government's eventual actions more popular."

Mr. Cox said he had asked Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell for assurance

'We Expect
Same Treatment'

Office workers of Yarrow's Ltd. shipyard, who take a strike vote Monday, expect the same treatment they gave 22 shipyard unions in the spring, business agent Douglas Gibson said Friday.

The 47 office workers, members of the Office Employees International Union Local 15, refused to cross picket lines when the 22 unions struck B.C.'s three major shipyards.

"We are holding out for what the yard workers received," Mr. Gibson said. "Thirty cents an hour for non-journeymen and 40 cents an hour for journeymen over three years."

the municipalities wouldn't be forced into the board without their consent.

But he did not "receive an answer which I consider satisfactory."

The Oak Bay official hoped his fears were unfounded, and also hoped the minister will make a "clear and unequivocal statement to this effect."

"If he does, I am sure the discussions will proceed in a much happier atmosphere."

Mr. Cox explained there wasn't any animosity between him and Mr. Campbell, but he simply wanted the matter cleared up.

Mr. Cox said Oak Bay council would not consider some of Mr. Campbell's proposals "which we consider to be purely provincial and not local responsibilities (such as) capital costs of hospitals, extensions of health services into home care for the aged and mental health fields."

Urge Women To Support Magazine

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Plea for members of the Catholic Women's League to support their national magazine was made here at the league's national convention.

Mrs. A. R. Cobham of Toronto, convener of the magazine committee, said the number of subscriptions to the magazine, The Canadian League, is disappointing.

The league has a membership of more than 150,000 but only 20,000 women are magazine subscribers.

A meeting of the Women's Institute will be held in the Lake Mill WI Hall, 2880 Quadra Street, on Monday, Aug. 31, at 1:30 p.m.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago I began divorce proceedings against my husband. I know now I acted in a fit of anger and that I should have cooled off and given Mac another chance.

I foolishly disregarded the welfare of my family because I wanted to get even with him for hurting me.

The children cry for their father every day and I am a nervous wreck. The loneliness is unbearable. My older brother spent a fortune on lawyers and I've said so many spiteful things about Mac that I'm afraid I couldn't face my family if I took him back.

My head is bursting with advice from well-meaning friends. Can you give me some unbiased, common-sense guidance?—JUST PLAIN MISERABLE

Dear J. P. Miserable: You don't want a divorce and you know it, so call off the proceedings at once. Forget about what family and friends will say. Consider only your needs and the needs of your children. Those who love you will understand. The others couldn't care less.

And let this be a lesson to wives who expect perfection from marriage. Any fool can run to family, friends and lawyers when the going gets rough. It takes maturity and courage to stay with a rocky situation and work things out.

Dear Ann Landers: I have a girl friend who sent for your booklet called "Necking and Petting and How Far to Go." The booklet arrived in a plain envelope and your name was not on the outside which was a big relief to her. She read every word of it.

Three months later this girl had to get married. On the day of her marriage she was two months short of being 16 years old. Everybody was shocked.

What I want to know is why send out booklets to people if they don't do any more good than that?—WONDERING VICKY

Dear Vicky: I'm sorry, dear, but I can't include a guarantee with every booklet that the advice will keep anyone out of trouble.

A girl who knows the facts stands a better chance of staying out of trouble than the girl who is ignorant. But knowledge is only half the battle. The other half is self control, and this I can't send in an envelope.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing this from boot camp.

A couple of days ago my family came down to the station to see me off. Just before I got aboard the train I shook hands with my dad and my brothers and I kissed my mother and my aunt. My buddy was with me.

Bride Feted

Miss Beverley Cox, whose marriage took place Friday evening, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. P. Pettigrew, Mrs. G. Harris and Mrs. R. Pemberton were co-hostesses.

Corsages were presented to the guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. B. Cox, and groom-elect's mother, Mrs. M. Mobey, Mrs. A. Medd and Mrs. E. Mobey, groom-elect's grandparents, also received corsages.

Gifts were contained in a decorated laundry basket.

Other guests were Mrs. G. Clifford, Mrs. D. McFarlane, Mrs. I. Dobson, Mrs. B. Am-drist, Mrs. R. Gill, Mrs. B. Pearce, Mrs. A. Stevens, Mrs. D. W. McDonald, Mrs. D. Hall, Mrs. P. Hall, Mrs. P. After we got on the train he told me I should not have kissed my aunt on the lips.

My aunt is about 30 I guess. And has always been wonderful to me—like a big sister. I told my buddy I didn't think the kiss I gave her was any different from the kiss I gave my mother. He said my aunt is quite a dish and I ought to "watch it"—for my own good.

Is my buddy right? Believe me, Ann, I never think of my aunt as a dish or anything close. How about it?—BOTHERED.

Dear Bothered: I see nothing wrong in kissing your aunt on the lips in the presence of other members of the family. One thing is certain, however, your buddy should never kiss HIS aunt that way.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Clark Married in Esquimalt

Rev. H. G. Turpin officiated at the ceremony, last Saturday evening, uniting Carol Anne Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gordon Mills, 3231 Happy Valley Road and Mr. Roland Lewis Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lewis Clark, 647 Kelly Road.

Baskets of gladiolus decorated Esquimalt United Church for the occasion. Solist was Mrs. Daniel Webster.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of nylon sheer, styled with a roll collar highlighted with delicate pleated inserts. Lily point sleeves and a full skirt with a train. A headpiece of lace, pearls and rhinestones held the chapel-length veil. Tasmania roses were in the bouquet.

Matron of honor for her sister-in-law was Mrs. R. Mills, the bride's sister, Mrs. Ken Enor, was bridesmaid, and the bridesmaid was Miss Donna Keoppel. They wore sheath-style

True Love Follows Politics

BELGRADE (AP)—A communist Chinese magazine was quoted here as saying that proletarian love was purer than middle class love.

The Belgrade daily Politika Express, in a dispatch from its New Delhi correspondent, quoted the Chinese review, Chinese Woman as saying:

"Young people now need revolutionary emotions of the proletariat, not the vulgar soft perceptions of the bourgeoisie."

The Chinese review was reported to have described what it called "vulgar soft perceptions" in these terms:

"Walking with the loved one arm in arm, in parks and on streets, in cinemas, at dances, in restaurants; also carousing, fondling, gazing at each other and prattling about love."

The Review advised that a girl selecting her "revolutionary partner" husband must "begin from the angle of political factors first of all, because otherwise true love cannot be found."

Stennes-Stephens

Couple Honeymoon at Banff

A wedding of interest took place recently in First United Church when Sharon Lynn Stephens was united in marriage with PO Alvin Lawrence Stennes of HMCS Fraser.

Rev. Robert J. O. Morris officiated at the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Stephens, 2483 Cranmore Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Stennes, East Wellington, V.I.

The bride who walked to the altar with her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of antique satin brocade. It was styled with soft inverted V fold at the front and again starting at the hips continuing to centre back creating a billowing effect and falling into a slight train. Her tiny lace jacket had long, lily-point sleeves and cummerbund fastened at the back with small bows and a bustle. Her veil misted over the shoulders from a net and pearl petal coronet.

net and she carried an arm bouquet of Tallman roses, white star chrysanthemums and white heather.

Miss Karen Stephens was bridesmaid for her sister and bridesmaids were Mrs. S. Siefanek, sister of the groom, and Mrs. M. Stennes, his sister-in-law.

They wore sheath dresses of tangerine-colored crystal sparkle organza over taffeta and billowy organza and net overskirts. Tangerine carnations, bronze chrysanthemums and trailing ivy formed their bouquets and their headpieces were circlets of tangerine carnations and chrysanthemums.

Mr. Morris Stennes was best man for his brother and showing guests to the pews were Mr. Steven Stefane and Mr. Lloyd Stennes.

Mr. George F. West proposed the toast to the bride at the reception which was held at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

For a motor trip to Banff and other interior points the bride travelled in an Italian-knit three-piece ensemble in fuchsia red, white maribou feather hat, and red and white accessories. Her corsage was a white rose. The young couple are making their home in Victoria.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Stennes, Miss Shirley Stennes, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Newcombe and Mr. and Mrs. S. Stefane and Miss Barbara Aldis, Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dunsmuir, G. H. Sidwell, Winnipeg; Mr. Burnaby, and Miss Diane Field, and Mrs. W. M. Newcombe, Regina.

In Paris

Fit and Flare Revived

By PEGGY MARRIN

PARIS (Reuters)—Paris collections are fundamentally dedicated to those sophisticated women who until this season have belonged to a fashion minority group.

This season, however, French designers have evoked a neo-classic approach, in the tradition of the pre-war era in Paris when clothes were created for elegant private clients, rather than becoming fads and fancies for the sake of something new.

Once again, the total effect of the new Paris fashion collections is based on philosophy that a matured and beautifully-groomed woman, wearing timeless fashions, is more attractive than the girl who puts all the accent on youth.

Until the 1930s, no French woman was considered capable of being truly fashionable until she had passed at least her first quarter of a century.

Paris dress designers unanimously preferred the full-blown ruse to the bud.

RESTRAINT RETURNS

Today, an understated silhouette treated with restraint and simplicity is back in the limelight. All the Bestnik, "yeh-yeh," and sports fashions are strictly for teenagers, or destined for their proper setting in the country and at winter sports resorts.

The lady may deign to don trousers for sports or casual wear, but basically she is feminine.

The feminine aspects of fashion are more pronounced this season than at any period since the late Christian Dior launched his famous New Look in 1947.

After more than a decade of sack and chemise-inspired silhouettes, clothes have revived a fit and a flare. They do not cling closely to the body, but have a definite curve.

There are real waistlines and fitted bodices, combined with pleats, godets, side-wrap, tiers, tunics, or hemline interest.

Clothes make no attempt to camouflage a woman's natural assets, although "tipplesness" and strip-tease décolletés were completely ignored in the main Paris collections.

NECKLINES RISE

The new mood is sedate and serene. It tends to conceal rather than to reveal, based on the assumption that no woman need bare her bosom to prove the difference between the sexes.

Indeed, most trend-setting designers go to the opposite extreme, with necklines rising high, even on gala ball gowns.

Formal fashions, with necklines cut up to the collar bones and sleeves reaching to the wrist, are Paris' answer to the voracity of topleteness.

New silhouettes climax the trend towards soft smooth finish and supple fabrics, worked with intricate seaming to achieve the body line.

Clothes, including coats, fit by means of cut rather than any studied architectural construction with padding and interlining. Shoulders are rounded and natural, playing up long tight sleeves and high uncluttered necklines.

Hats and hair styles are the

Janet Pettersen Weds J. A. Britton

Miss Janet Pettersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pettersen, 1002 Fifth Street, and Mr. James A. Britton, son of Mr. J. A. Britton and Mrs. L. Seddon, Victoria, were united in marriage at Church of Our Lord, Bishop D. A. G. Rankin officiated at the recent summer evening wedding.

The fair-haired bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a lovely floor-length gown of Alencon lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned on the lines of an overblouse with three-quarter-length sleeves. A band of satin peau accenting empire waistline formed two sweet heart bows from which a dainty lace panel cascaded to a soft train in back. A petite double-tiered crown of Alencon lace and seed crystals held the bride's bouffant-veiled veil of illusion net. Pink roses and white carnations were in her bouquet.

Mrs. John Clarke, matron of honor, wore a gold brocade gown with belted skirt and a floral headpiece en tone. She carried bronze roses and white carnations. Miss Maria Smith, junior bridesmaid, was in a matching gown styled on "baby doll" lines. She carried white roses.

Mr. Tom Russell was best man.

Mr. Albert Bates proposed the toast to the bride at a buffet reception at Holyrood House.

For travelling the bride chose an Italian-knit pink suit and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Britton are now making their home at 563 David Street.

Principals Receive Corsages

Miss Donna Armstrong, September bride-elect of Mr. Darcy Goyette, was recently honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. R. Feldon at the Peto Place home of Mrs. R. Harman. The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of gladioli and roses, while her mother, Mrs. H. Armstrong, the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. N. Goyette and grandmother, Mrs. M. Goyette were presented with mauve chrysanthemum corsages. The many gifts were held in a decorated laundry basket.

Miss Armstrong's guests included Mrs. L. Harman, Mrs. S. Feldon, Mrs. N. Arneson, Mrs. D. Gallo, Mrs. G. Page, Mrs. D. Hood, Mrs. M. Patterson, Mrs. A. Campbell, Mrs. D. Houghton, Mrs. G. Dean, Mrs. C. Martin, Mrs. R. Devlin, Mrs. W. Hetherington, Mrs. D. Snopek, Mrs. R. Thompson, Mrs. D. Kershaw, Mrs. L. Leachman and the Misses Linda Armstrong and Anne White.

High Mass Influence Tin Pan Alley

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The composer of English-language music sung for the first time Thursday at a Roman Catholic high mass says his compositions were "strongly influenced by the Gregorian Chant and Tin Pan Alley."

It also marked the first time music was sung in English as part of the high mass. The composer, Dr. C. Alexander Pelouquin of Providence, R.I., said the challenge implied "a return to participation for the congregation, a return to the culture of the people so they can take part personally in the mass as they did in the beginning of the church."

"My problem with the English was to give it life and not make it drag. The word had to come through and if the word is essential to Broadway, it definitely is essential to church music."

Cowichan Minister Welcomed

A new minister for Lake Cowichan United Church will be inducted at 7:30 p.m. Thursday by Rev. E. Laura Butler, chairman of the Victoria Presbytery. The new minister is Rev. Ross G. Connal, formerly of the lower mainland.

In charge of the service will be Rev. R. B. Knips of Duncan United; Rev. A. G. McLeod of St. Aidan's United, Victoria, will preach.

A social hour at which the congregation will meet its new minister will follow the service. United Church women of Lake Cowichan and Youbou will be hostesses.

Check Garden!

Your Poppies Can Break Drug Laws

Law-abiding citizens may find themselves breaking the narcotics law because there are poppies growing in their yards. Magistrate William Ouler said in city magistrate's court Friday.

He was speaking on the "almost insoluble case" of Melton

Essihos, 1120 Burdett, who was sentenced to one day and put on probation for two years on a $500 bond because of illegal drug possession.

Essihos was arrested after he was seen taking poppies from an Oak Bay garden.

COULD FOLLOW

It could perhaps follow, in effect, that persons who grow some kinds of poppies in their gardens are, by doing so, guilty of illegal drug possession.

"This case points up a startling situation," the magistrate said.

In passing sentence, he said that Essihos was not even sure he had taken the right kind of poppies to produce morphine, nor did he know how to extract the drug.

MARGINAL LIFE

"He has led a marginal existence for some years in this community," he said, "because of an excruciating skin condition and because of an addiction to drugs through the necessity of using them."

The magistrate passed a minimum sentence because Essihos would have to be transferred to Vancouver General Hospital for daily treatment if he were sent to Oakalla.

Robert Painton, 1037 Tillicum, was fined $25 for being a minor in possession of alcohol. He jumped out of a car he was driving, when stopped on Yates at 1 a.m. Aug. 8, and dropped a part bottle of beer on the road. There was a full bottle of beer on the back seat, court was told.

Two counts involving theft over $50 and unlawful possession were dismissed against Donald Clarence Lincker, 306 Island Highway.

The case involved three cardboard cartons of tile said to belong to the department of national defence.

The magistrate said there was no evidence of the tiles being stolen at Colwood as charged. If stolen, the theft would have occurred at HMCS Churchill, Man., he said.

Deciding factors on dismissing the second count were the "incomprehensible lack of system" and "the nonchalant attitude toward government property at HMCS Churchill."

Price Demonstration

Protesting Farmers Arrested

CHICAGO (UPI) — Eighteen persons were arrested in a mass demonstration at a meat packing plant in Rochelle, Ill., Friday and 600 National Farmers Organization (NFO) members staged a "show of force" at Pittsfield, Ill., in a farmers revolt against livestock prices.

The new demonstrations erupted as hog prices moved higher on many midwestern market day of the NFO "holding action" to obtain a better return for on-the-hoof beef and pork.

'LOOKS GOOD'

The hog market showed strength despite a step-up in marketings on the last day of the trading week.

Oren Lee Staley, president of the NFO, said the livestock price situation "looks pretty good" and added: "We've just begun to fight."

The arrests at Rochelle came after Swift and Co. Obtained an injunction from Ogle County Circuit Court Judge Leon Zick against farmer demonstrations at its plant.

OBSTRUCTION CHARGES

Sixteen persons were arrested on trespassing charges and two were arrested on a charge of obstructing police officers. Authorities said the two tried to let the air out of the tires of two trucks brought in to remove live pickup trucks that had obstructed traffic on an access road.

Between 100 and 150 persons participated in the eight-hour demonstration at Rochelle.

And Fewer Elections

More Help Needed On Vancouver Council

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver Board of Trade committee Thursday called for a larger city council and the holding of civic elections every two years rather than annually.

The report by the eight-man committee was submitted to the board's civic bureau and will be debated Sept. 10.

The report urges that the number of aldermen be increased to 12 from 10 and eventually to 12 from 10 and of aldermen and mayor should remain at two years, the entire assembly should be elected at one time.

It also called for opposition to any attempt to introduce the ward system and party politics in civic elections.

The report advocated retention of the city's existing board of administration, and suggested it be increased by a third commissioner.

CHILDREN ARE SPECIALLY WELCOME in the 20 suites now available on the three floors of the Twin Holly apartment, 476 Lampson, within 200 yards of Esquimalt's Kinver Beach and its boat-launching ramp, close to shopping and schools, with buses passing right by the door. But the kids don't have to go all the way to the beach, for a special playground has been provided with swings and slides in the apartment's own yard. The extra large suites, of two and three bedrooms, have hardwood floors, drapes throughout, with ranges and fridges in the kitchens and exhaust fans in kitchen and bath. The two upper floors have balconies, reached through sliding glass doors. The main entrance is fully carpeted, as are all the hallways, and is finished in black walnut on one wall, mirrored on the other, with a television set and comfortable seating for those who wait. There is an elevator, individual mail delivery to every suite, and wired television. Steam heating is individually controlled in each of the apartments, extra-soundproofed with double ceilings and double-insulated walls between suites. Cupboard space is extensive, laundry and storage facilities are provided, and there is off-street parking for every tenant. A caretaker is in residence. Newstead Realty are rental agents.

Indian 'Voice' Hits Catholics

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The right-wing Hindu weekly The Organizer Friday called on the Indian government to ban the International Eucharistic Congress of Roman Catholics scheduled to be held in Bombay next November and December.

The magazine said "30,000 Catholics from all over the world propose to descend on Bombay in November this year in a crash program to win more and more Indians for what (Mohandas) Gandhi described as 'beef and beer bottle Christianity'."

FIRST TIME

"For the first time in the history of the Catholic church, their International Eucharistic Congress is meeting in a country where Catholics are but a small minority.

"No Moslem majority country would let them in. But evidently they think they can get away with anything in 'secular' India."

ONE RELIGION?

Quoting Pope Paul's recent encyclical, "Ecclesiam Suam" as saying "there is but one true religion—the religion of Christianity" the magazine commented: "By implication, every other religion — Hinduism, Islam, Buddhism — is false."

"Opinions and activities like these could provoke a reaction among the 98-per-cent non-Catholic majority of India. As such, it could easily develop into a law and order problem."

TV TALK

By BRUCE LOWTHER

TV NOTES: A 30-minute documentary on the Beatles' invasion of Vancouver will be shown at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday on Channel 8 and 6:30 p.m. Wednesday on Channel 6. ... After a dozen seasons, grizzled Stanley Andrews has retired as the "old fanger" on Death Valley Days, and will be replaced by none other than Ronald Reagan ... Bing Crosby will sing at least one song on each of his weekly Bing Crosby Shows in his new series. It's actually a family "comedy" series.

Saturday's Highlights

2:00 p.m. — The Cheyenne rodeo, reputedly the world's biggest, is shown on This Is America-4. ... 9:30 — Remember the singing King Sisters? Now their family numbers 33, and they all gather for a musical special entitled The Family Is King-4.

Saturday's Sports

Wrestling — Channels 2 and 6 at 3:30 p.m.; Channel 7 at 5:30; Channel 8 at 11:15. ... 11:25 a.m. — Baseball, Los Angeles Dodgers at St. Louis-2, 6, 7, 12. ... 11:30 — San Francisco at Milwaukee-3. ... 2:00 p.m. — The so-called "world golf championship" in Detroit, second last day-7, 12. ... 5:00 — Wide World of Sports shows the Little League world series-4. ... 5:30 — NBC Sports Special: U.S. track and field juniors-5. ... 6:30 — Viewpoint discusses the growing chances for major league baseball in Seattle-4. ... 7:30 — U.S. Olympic trials: swimming, yachting and fencing-4.

Saturday's Movies

1:45 p.m. — One Minute to Zero (1951 war drama), Robert Mitchum-2. ... 3:00 — Down Among the Sheltering Palms (1939 romance), Mitzzy Gaynor-4. ... 3:30 — Charley Moon (1955 English musical)-8. ... 4:00 — The Bad (1957 horror), Vincent Price-7. ... 9:00 — Teen Girls (fair 1957 musical), Kay Kendall, Mitzzy Gaynor, Gene Kelly-2, 6. ... 9:00 — Wild River (fair 1960 drama), Lee Remick, Montgomery Clift-5. ... 9:00 — Jazz Singer (1953 version), Danny Thomas-12. ... 10:00 — Earthbound (1945 drama), George Sanders-11. ... 11:00 — Rogue River (1950 drama), Rory Calhoun-7. ... 11:00 — Wolf Larsen (1958 drama), Barry Sullivan-12. ... 11:10 — Disaster (1948 adventure), Richard Denning-6. ... 11:15 — The Girl He Left Behind (1956 comedy), Natalie Wood, Tab Hunter-4. ... 11:20 — So Big (1953 drama), Jane Wyman-2. ... 11:20 — Ambush at Tomahawk Gap (1953 western), John Derek, John Hodiak-5. ... 12:30 — Never a Dull Moment (1952 comedy), Fred MacMurray-12.

Tory Charges:

New Department Empire-Building

OTTAWA (CP)—Conservative Party charges of empire-building in the new industry department got lost, if temporary, results in the Commons Friday.

Industry Minister Drury cut the $4,677,100 appropriation for administration of the department by $500,000. But he didn't promise any reduction in staff. He said the cut was being made because officers weren't being recruited as fast as expected.

ONE FOR HISTORY
Alfred D. Hales (PC—Wellington South) said Mr. Drury had revealed "one of the greatest empire-building programs in the history of this government."

Mr. Drury said the department will have 645 officers, of whom 290 had been recruited, and "supporting staff." At least 257 officers will get salaries of $8,000 to $25,000 a year.

In a debate on the $24,194,000 appropriation for the industry department — an increase of more than 60 per cent over 1963-64—Mr. Hales said there is tremendous overlapping and confusion among the industry, trade and defence production departments.

NO THOUGHT TO COST
No thought was given to the added costs which had to be borne by the taxpayer. The department, which could have remained a branch of the trade department, was spending $384,000 a year in rent for a building that included 119 private offices. To recruit staff the department had issued 30,000 booklets at a cost of $2,940.

Reg Cantelon (PC—Kindersley) said he wonders whether the department will add more to the economy than it costs the taxpayer. The civil service establishment was increasing at a tremendous rate.

NEW INDUSTRIES
Herb Gray (L—Essex West) said the industry department had helped to bring new industries to Windsor, Ont. Any amount spent by the government to stimulate industrial growth was well spent.

Mr. Drury said the criteria for designating depressed areas are being reviewed and that he will report on the outcome of this review in the fall.

He said the three-year tax holiday granted new industries established in depressed areas is generating $245,000,000 in private investment.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
HAGENSBORO WATER DISTRICT

Sealed tenders will be received by Hagenborg Waterworks District up to 2:00 p.m. (Daylight Saving Time), on Tuesday, September 15th, 1964, for the construction of a water system, comprising approximately 18,000 feet of main, together with all fittings therefor.

Specifications, Contract Documents and Tender Forms may be obtained at the office of the District, at Hagenborg, B.C., or from the Consulting Engineer, John Macdonald and Associates Engineering Ltd., 4897 Gordon Road, Hagenborg, B.C., upon deposit of the sum of $35.00.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
DEPARTMENT OF RECREATION AND CONSERVATION

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
SEALING TENDERS, ORDERED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF RECREATION AND CONSERVATION, FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A TRANSFORMER BUILDING IN MOUNT SNEYDON PROVINCIAL PARK.

The tenders will be received by the Minister of Recreation and Conservation, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., up to 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, the 18th day of September, 1964, and opened in public at that time in the Deputy Minister's office.

The building site is at the terminus of the Mount Seymour Park Road (at elevation 2250 A.S.L.), nine miles from the intersection of Keith Road and Indian River Drive in the District of North Vancouver.

Plans, specifications and conditions of tender may be obtained, on and after August 26, 1964, from the Provincial Parks Branch, 548 Michigan Street, Victoria, B.C., or from the office of the Government Agent, 605 Burrard Street, Vancouver, and Court House West Vancouver, B.C., on deposit of the sum of $25.00 for each set, which will be refunded upon return of the plans, etc., in good condition within a period of one month from the opening of tenders, issued that the deposit of the successful tenderer is not refundable. Plans and specifications will also be on view at the office of the Building Engineer, 2015 Oak Street, Malvern Building, 1800 West 4th Avenue, and the Industrial Construction Centre Ltd., 1807 West Broadway, Vancouver, B.C.

Each tender must be accompanied by a BID BOND in the amount of not less than 10% of the tendered price, payable to the Minister of Recreation and Conservation. The successful tenderer shall furnish a Performance Bond and a Material and Labor Payment Bond each equal to 50% of the contract price.

Tenders must be made out on the forms supplied, signed with the actual signature of the tenderer, accompanied with the Company Seal where applicable, and enclosed in an envelope or cover in the envelope furnished. The tenderer shall not add any identifying marks on the envelope.

No tender will be accepted or considered that contains an unqualified clause or any other qualifying conditions, and the lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Site inspections may be arranged by contacting Mr. O. Johnson, Park Supervisor at the Park Headquarters, Mount Seymour Park, 1807 West Broadway, Vancouver, B.C.

D. B. TURNER, Deputy Minister, Department of Recreation and Conservation, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., August 21, 1964.

Cautious Optimism

Tories Now Lead U.K. Opinion Poll

LONDON (Reuters) — Public opinion polls Friday boosted the ruling Conservative party's hopes of winning the forthcoming general election and touched off speculation of a snap election within the next five weeks.

TORIES CAUTIOUS
But there was no sign from Conservative sources of any departure from their announced intention to hold the contest in mid-October — with Oct. 15 as the most likely date.

The poll findings were being followed by top Conservatives with no more than cautious optimism, well-informed sources said.

The party's morale was nevertheless braced by one poll published Thursday which claimed Conservatives had now overtaken the opposition Labor party in electoral popularity and established a lead of almost one per cent.

Politicians said this, if maintained over the whole country in an election, would give Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home a House of Commons majority of about 50 seats, compared with the majority of 100 seats his party gained in the 1959 election.

But the same poll also showed that nearly 25 per cent of all voters approached were still undecided as to how they would vote.

Longshoring Dispute Reroutes Cruise Ships

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Charles B. West, president of Alaska Cruise Lines, said Friday his two cruise ships, the Yukon Star and Glacier Queen, would bypass Haines, Alaska, from now on because of a dispute with longshoremen there.

Longshoremen at Haines, members of the Seafarers' International Union, picketed the Glacier Queen Wednesday night after West refused to hire a four-man gang to handle the ship's lines in docking and departing. The crew of the Glacier Queen, also members of the SIU, refused to handle lines through the shore-side picket line established by the Haines longshore gang.

"The job can be handled by two men, just as it is for the ships of the Alaska State Ferry System," West said. "For them to insist on a four-man crew is featherbedding and I do not intend to pay men for not working."

West said the issue was not one confined to Haines, but a similar situation exists at all other southeast Alaska ports visited by the two cruise ships, which operate out of Vancouver, B.C.

Cemetery Robbery Nets Box of NSF Cheques

TEXARKANA, Tex. (UPI)—A spokesman for Memorial Gardens cemetery told police he was not too worried about the loss in a burglary.

The only thing taken was a cash box filled with cheques which had been returned marked "insufficient funds."

Alienated Husband Names Chicago Priest

CHICAGO (AP)—A judge ordered a Roman Catholic church official Thursday to tell the whereabouts of a priest against whom a $14,625 allegation of affection judgement has been levied.

Judge Herbert L. Will gave Magr. Francis W. Byrne, chancellor of the Chicago archdiocese, until Tuesday to declare where Rev. Donald B. Runkle is now.

NOT CONTESTED
Father Runkle, 50, did not contest the suit filed against him by Robert F. McArdle, Jr., 32, now a North Tarrytown, N.Y., salesman.

McArdle charged that Father Runkle engaged in adulterous conduct with Mrs. Patricia McArdle, 36, between 1960 and 1962.

SEVERAL LOCATIONS
McArdle contended the illicit relationship took place in several locations, including the Immaculate Conception Parish House in the Chicago suburb of Highland Park, Ill., where Father Runkle was assistant pastor and Mrs. McArdle the church organist.

McArdle's father, lawyer Robert P. McArdle, told the court Magr. Byrne had been evasive in response to questions about Father Runkle.

Guards Head For Cyprus
OTTAWA (CP)—An advance party of the 1st Battalion, Canadian Guards, at Picton, Ont., will go to Cyprus Sept. 7 to arrange for the possible movement of the unit there as a replacement for the 2nd Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, Defence Minister Hellyer said Friday.

Mr. Martineau had asked what action was planned to halt the increasing number of fraudulent bankruptcies.

Ottawa Set To Curb Bankruptcies
OTTAWA (CP)—The government is planning legislative action to curb fraudulent bankruptcies, Justice Minister Paveau indicated Friday.

He told the Commons, in a reply to a question by Paul Martineau (PC—Montreal-Tremblay) that an amendment will soon be presented to Parliament, and that other measures will be submitted.

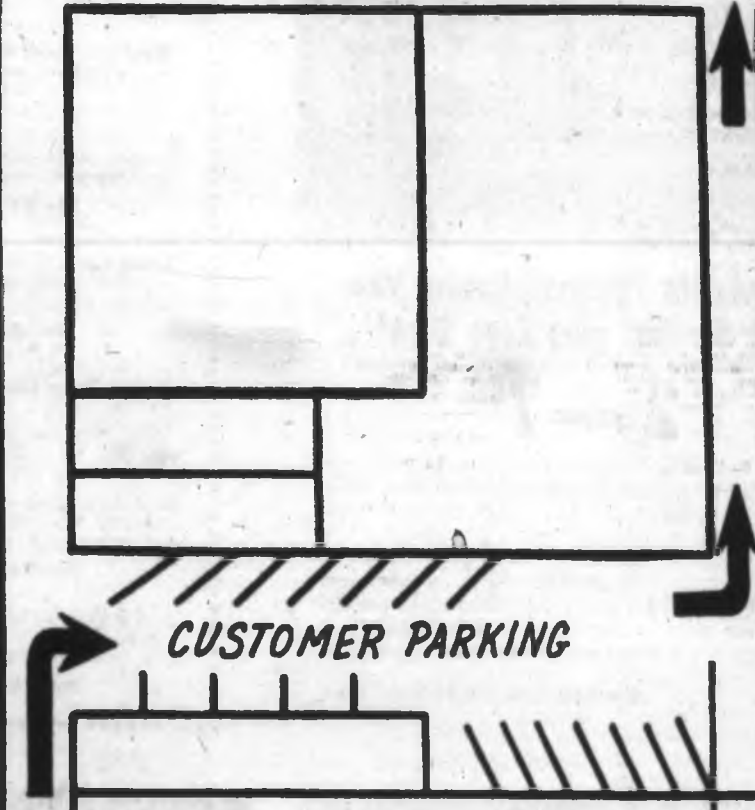

Mr. Martineau had asked what action was planned to halt the increasing number of fraudulent bankruptcies.

Amnesty Broadened

City's Total

Now 159

Forty-eight Chinese in Victoria have reported to authorities as illegal immigrants in the past two weeks.

An immigration official here said it will take several weeks to process the applications for status adjustment.

Since mid-1960 there have been 130 applications and some of them are still awaiting processing.

Most of the illegal immigrants entered the country with false documents, misrepresentation of relationships "and many other means," the official said.

There were about 400 other applications made in Vancouver before the recent rush of more than 200 in that city.

One source in Vancouver's Chinatown, Canada's largest, estimated there were about 3,000 Chinese still hiding there illegally.

VANCOUVER (CP)—An immigration department official said Friday an amnesty covering Chinese who entered Canada illegally has been broadened and extended indefinitely.

Frank Wragg, operations supervisor for the Vancouver area for the immigration department, said the amnesty will apply to Chinese who have entered the country illegally up to and including Aug. 31.

As in the past, the amnesty will cover Chinese who have entered the country under pretence of having close relatives here. It also has been broadened to include those who have entered through use of forged passports.

Those illegally entered need only step forward and declare their status.

"We want to take statements from all of them," Mr. Wragg said, "so we can clarify their status."

Earlier this month Immigration Minister Tremblay announced in the Commons that a deadline of Sept. 1 had been set for the amnesty policy. Later he said the government was prepared to prolong the period of amnesty.

It was reported here that 3,000 illegally landed Chinese were continuing to hide.

Bennett:

B.C. Bank Bid Not Dead Yet

B.C.'s application for a bank charter may come before the senate banking committee again within 15 days, Premier Bennett said Friday.

The bank dropped suddenly from the news about a month ago when senators discontinued, for the time being, the liberation of the premier's charter application.

But the bank is coming along well, Mr. Bennett told reporters.

"The two virtues I hope to cultivate now are perseverance and patience—the hardiest virtues to carry out," he said.

Will B.C. get its bank? "We've complied with all the rules so we should get it," the premier said.

'Revolution' Drives Out Canadiens

QUEBEC (CP)—Seven officials, including three regional presidents, announced Friday they are quitting their posts in Le Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale, a leading Quebec separatist organization, because it is "dominated by a faction which is leading it more and more into an irreversible policy of revolution."

The seven said in a statement that, if political independence is necessary for Quebec, revolution would be "extremely disastrous" as a way of achieving it. The regional presidents involved in the resignation are Dr. René Jutra of the Bois-Francs region, Jean Garon of the Quebec City and Quebec East region and Marc-André Bedard of Châteauguay.

Coldwell: 'Watched'

Coldwell Dossier Cited By 'Undercover Agent'

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—Calvin Macdonald, who claims he worked as an undercover agent for the RCMP 10½ years, said Friday he spied on M. J. Coldwell, former federal CCF leader, in 1960.

In the second of his cross-country speeches, Macdonald said in a street-corner speech that Ernest Corrigan, a corporal in the RCMP's "A" Squadron of the security investigations branch, ordered him to collect facts for a dossier on Mr. Coldwell.

Mr. Macdonald says he is making his cross-country tour and exposes to attempt to force the RCMP to acknowledge that he became a Communist Party member on their behalf and acted as an undercover agent.

Mr. Macdonald said here he met Mr. Coldwell at social affairs at the Russian Embassy. He said he saw him there at least three times after he (Macdonald) was contacted by the RCMP.

"I turned in a report on each occasion on Mr. Coldwell's remarks and on what known Communists had spoken to him," Mr. Macdonald said.

He added that Mr. Coldwell was most certainly not a Communist.

"But this shows that even a member of Parliament and leader of a political party is suspected by the RCMP."

Really Time to Retire

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—A retired volunteer fireman can sleep in peace at La Crosse Hospital now—he knows the fire alarm system works.

The 75-year-old patient decided to take the hospital's fire alarm system apart and make sure it was in shape.

Five trucks responded.

Riotous Troops, Students

Turks Assail U.S.

ANKARA (AP)—Turkish soldiers and officers joined students Friday in a riotous two-hour march through Ankara streets, shouting anti-United States slogans and breaking windows of the Greek embassy.

The United States also came in for attack in Nicosia, Cyprus, where Greek-Cypriots in an orderly demonstration accused the U.S. and Britain of supporting Turkish demands for the partition of Cyprus. Cypriots shouted "Makarios, Khrushchev, Nasser" and carried placards saying "shame on Anglo-American imperialist murderers."

SECOND DAY

It was the second day in a row in which Ankara crowds had assailed the United States. The Turks have been aroused by newspaper stories saying the U.S. is trying to force Turkey to accept a solution providing for union of Cyprus with Greece.

The Nicosia rally preceded the departure of President Archbishop Makarios for Alexandria and talks with Egypt's President Nasser, who has offered arms to Cyprus.

U.S. Backs Rotation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. state department Friday supported Turkey's right to rotate its troops on Cyprus and said it was "concerned" about Greek Cypriot threats to prevent the rotation.

The Cypriot government has refused to permit rotation. Turkey has let it be known it would be prepared to use force to carry it out.

Makarios Lands To See Nasser

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (Reuters)—President Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus arrived here by air Friday night for talks with President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Blockade Lifted

LAENACA, Cyprus (UPI)—The UN peace force commander said Friday the Greek-Cypriots lifted their economic blockade against Turkish Cypriot communities three days ago.

Brink of Anarchy

TROOPS CURB SAIGON RIOTS

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese troops in full battle gear cracked down on mobs today and restored a semblance of order after this capital had teetered on the verge of anarchy. It was expected military leaders would step back into full power.

A declaration of martial law and imposition of a 9 p.m. to 4 a.m. curfew was expected.

A government spokesman said Friday night a military-civilian "committee of unification" would replace the dissolved ruling revolutionary council. The committee would include the country's three top generals and representatives of the Buddhists, Roman Catholics and possibly students.

EVERYONE FIGHTS

Buddhists and Catholics have been fighting each other and the students have been rioting against the government in disorders that left at least nine dead and scores wounded.

At a noon press conference, Nguyen Xuan Oanh, a former vice-premier for economic affairs, announced he would be acting premier of the caretaker government for the next two months. He formerly served under strongman Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

FUSE BARRIERS ASIDE

The soldiers swept aside makeshift barriers thrown across main streets by the demonstrators Thursday and Friday and set up barbed wire barricades of their own.

"From now on law and order will be enforced," a security officer said.

But a Communist Viet Cong broadcast called on the people in Saigon to rise in revolt, and a force said to be made up of 1,000 students from Communist territory was reported marching on the capital.

MAIN POINTS

The main points of violence in the city and its suburbs were under army control with barbed-wire barricades blocking the approaches.

Units of paratroopers and steel-helmeted troops with fixed bayonets raced around the city, pounding on random knots of demonstrators, shoving them into trucks and driving them away.

Five hundred demonstrators were arrested Friday night and police said 150 of them had criminal records. At least 15 were being held as Communist suspects.

FORM COMMITTEE

In an attempt to put an end to the religious strife and student rebellion, the government set up the committee of unification.

Blood Quest Ranged Afar

WASHINGTON (AP)—A doctor said Friday blood banks struggled successfully to obtain 53 units of a rare type of blood from 40 donors in 10 states and Canada last year to save the life of a New Jersey man.

Dr. Lyndall Moithan of Philadelphia told of the dramatic international quest to round up the blood type, called "Latharan b-negative" and discovered only a few years ago.

She said sheet-metal worker Herbert Kuehn, in the course of a series of operations, three times exhausted the U.S. supply of the rare blood.

But, she told the annual meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks that, because of the work of the blood banks in rounding up donors, he now is back home.

She said co-operation of many blood banks obtained the needed blood from donors in Winnipeg and Toronto, an Irish woman visiting in Boston and donors in New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Alabama, Florida, Illinois, Minnesota and Pittsburgh. Many of the donors had not known they possessed the rare type.

Negroes Riot In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Negroes smashed store windows, looted stores and attacked police vehicles with bottles and bricks in north Philadelphia Friday.

The outbreak started when two policemen tried to stop a loud argument between a man and a woman sitting in a parked car. A crowd gathered and threatened the officers. The mob grew and as the leaders taunted the police, others ran down Columbus Avenue, a business district, looting stores.

More than 200 policemen moved into the area and restored order for a time. The crowd again became unruly when police began chasing roving gangs suspected of looting. Quiet was restored when more police arrived.

At least 20 persons, including a bus driver, were injured. Transportation routes through

It was a headline with a built-in chuckle: "Committee Will Study Frick's Job."

One can hear the funnymen: "Well, it's about time somebody did."

"Ford Frick has just reached for the rye bottle," Tom Meany, the toastmaster, announced from the dais at a party in Shore's one night. "It is his first positive move in four years."

Everybody laughed, though the baseball commissioner's hilarity was a trifle pale. He had been hearing and reading words to the same effect ever since the big leagues decided that, if they had to have a house dick, the least they could do was to pick one who was toned.

Let's get it on the record now, perhaps to be repeated once when the commissioner packs it in after the 1965 world series: the popular conception of Ford Frick as a do-nothing administrator and a compliant tool of the men who pay his wages has never been accepted here.

There have been more than a few occasions when one would have rejoiced to see him take a firmer, tougher stand than he did. But like Cynara's literary friend, Mr. Dowson, he has been faithful in his fashion.

By and large, it says here, his fashion was eminently suited to the times in which he served. It would not have been suited to the time of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, but it was devotedly to be desired after baseball's experience with the prating politician who preceded Frick.

No three men could have approached one job with more widely differing views of how it should be handled. Big league baseball, in terms of its life after the crooked world series of 1919, buried its tearstained face in Landis' bony knees and sobbed "Save us, judge, save us!"

Judge Saves the Game

It was a situation tailored for the flamboyant old tyrant. He demanded and received—from everybody except Phil Ball, of the Browns—a pledge of unquestioning obedience, he made up his own rules as he went along, and he enforced them inflexibly. If there were grounds for the owners' fears that baseball was in mortal danger when the Judge moved in, he saved the game.

A. B. Chandler was hired during the Second World War when baseball thought it needed a friend with connections in Washington. The greatest commissioner since Landis felt he was earning his pay if he sang, slobbered, and simpered in public.

When Happy Chandler retired due to illness—the owners got sick of him—Frick became baseball's third commissioner. He did not see himself as a czar or as a vaudeville act. He saw the job as purely administrative, a task of enforcing the rules agreed on by the owners. He did that as well as any man could, although some of the rules—notably those regarding bonus players—were unenforceable per se.

Good and evil balanced each other out in his administration. On the side of evil, the carpetbaggers moved in, playing fast-and-loose with franchises, taking a lot of the fun out of the game by making it clear that baseball was all business and no part sport. In Ford's time the majors ate up the minors, and that's not good.

No Whiff of Scandal

On the other side, there has been no faint whiff of scandal in the Frick administration. This isn't necessarily a score for the commissioner, for the competitive integrity of baseball was pretty well established before he moved in. Yet it was scandal that brought Landis into the picture and there was corruption in the minors in Chandler's time. (He said it was none of his business.)

The majors have never known such prosperity as they have enjoyed under Frick. His administration has seen unprecedented attendance in the big leagues, million dollar television contracts, and establishment of a pension plan unmatched in any other industry.

Frick's time was a time of genuine expansion in the majors. To be sure, there has been some reckless shifting of franchises and it is not expansion when you merely close a store on one corner and open on another. But both leagues added two teams, bringing big league ball to virgin territory, and most of the operations are financially sound.

Ford did not favor some of the moves, but he did not believe he had the authority to interfere in matters that were the private business of the National or American League.

He consoled himself that, up to now, the majors had not abandoned any city altogether. New York, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, and Washington were never left without a club.

This may not continue to be true. There is good reason to believe that the majors will quit Milwaukee, Kansas City, and Cleveland altogether. That'll be another commissioner's problem.

Olsen Decisions Wayne Thornton

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Agging Bob Olsen, who held the middleweight title 10 years ago, renewed his bid for a light heavyweight championship when he defeated a unanimous decision Friday night over young Wayne Thornton.

Olsen, 33, of San Francisco, and weighing 177½, carried the fight to the 17th-round Fresno, Calif., Irishman throughout the selected battle in Kesar Pavilion.

Olsen boosted his chances of meeting 175-pound champion Willie Pastrano with the title at stake.

Friday night it was supposed to have been Bobo against Pastrano in a 10-round non-title affair but the champ withdrew when he had to undergo minor surgery.

Smythe Overdue On Lease Reply

VANCOUVER (CP)—Toronto's Stafford Smythe, dickering for a site to build a mammoth sports coliseum in Vancouver, is three days overdue on his reply to city council's latest terms.

Mayor Bill Rathie said Friday he doesn't have an answer by Monday, he'll "get in touch to find out what's happened."

He said if Smythe still wants the two downtown blocks for $11 and rejects council's offer of a 125-year lease—he still is "fairly confident that a lease basis could be worked out with somebody."

This statement was taken to mean that the mayor would favor inviting other developers to make counter-offers if the Toronto Maple Leaf president insists on a clear title to the land.

Mayor Rathie said he is not in favor of giving away $2,000,000 worth of property to anyone.

Smythe started the ball rolling by offering to build the $50,000,000 coliseum, primarily for hockey, if council would make available land with no strings attached.

He told council here Aug. 19 he would consult with Leaf directors on the lease terms and try to have an answer by last Tuesday, Aug. 25.

By the Canadian Press

Baltimore Orioles hit three homers to crush

Chicago 8-3, earning a split in Friday's doubleheader that kept the Orioles in first place in the American League pennant race.

The White Sox won the opener 2-1 on Floyd Robinson's two-run single in the ninth.

The split left Baltimore a half-game ahead of Chicago and 4½ games ahead of the third-place New York Yankees.

Norm Siebern slammed a two-run homer to snap a 1-1 tie in the third inning of the second game. Brooks Robinson followed with another homer, and the Orioles won 5-3.

Double Reward for Firemen

By SUSIE McC. BIRD
TOFINO—Two donations swelling the equipment stockpile of the volunteer fire department have followed the firemen's recent quick action in preventing what could have become a major harbor blaze.

A fire of unknown origin struck the troller Little Partner while it was moored in the middle of the harbor, surrounded by the Standard Oil dock, shipyard, ice plant, homes and fishboats worth many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

escaped with slight burns and only the cabin was damaged. The firemen were assisted by men of the Tofino lifeboat and employees aboard the large fish-packer Harriet E.

Frank Rodway, wholesale district manager for Standard Oil in Victoria, donated several five-gallon pails of firefighting chemical foam.

William Bond of Bond's Island, across from Tofino, owner for many years of the Tofino Pile-driving Co., gave a 500-gallon pump.

Appreciation for the gifts was voiced by assistant fire chief Kenneth Gibson on behalf of the department and chief Murdo

McLeod, who was in Nova Scotia attending the funeral of his father-in-law.

QUALICUM BEACH—Father W. H. Bullock, who has served Catholic congregations throughout the Parksville-Qualicum Beach area since 1946, is leaving soon to take up new duties at the Victoria cathedral.

Residents of the district will honor him in the Island Hall playhouse Wednesday. A polka supper in his honor will be held by district Catholics at 8 p.m. and his many friends of all faiths have been invited to a social evening at 8 p.m.

Courtenay Airstrip Action Taken

COURTENAY—First definite steps toward completion of their proposed airstrip have been taken by members of the Courtenay-Comox Chambers of Commerce.

Airpark committee chairman David Kirk told a special chamber meeting Thursday that $500 already has been collected or pledged by people interested in the project.

He said $1,200 would be needed to have a grass field capable of handling a small plane with an experienced pilot.

VIRTUAL COMPLETION
About $2,000 would be enough to bring about virtual completion of the levelling of a full strip.

The chamber decided to support the committee to the tune of $1,000 without the necessity of its returning to the chamber for approval of further action.

Mr. Kirk asked that anyone wishing to donate to the project get in touch with him.

ALBERNI—Robert Kapchinsky was committed in magistrate's court Friday for higher court trial after a preliminary hearing on a charge of criminal negligence causing bodily harm.

The charge involves a shooting incident at Sproat Lake June 25 when another young man, William Ollbar, was wounded. Kapchinsky had elected trial by judge and jury.

NANAIMO—RCMP said Friday a man suspected of obtaining money by false pretences six different times in the Nanaimo area in May has been apprehended by Metropolitan Toronto police. The unidentified man is facing similar charges there. It is likely the charges resulting from the offences in Nanaimo will be dealt with at Toronto.

PARKSVILLE—Sports fisherman Arnie Erickson, out looking for salmon recently, caught a surprise when he hooked a skate weighing about 60 pounds and measuring three feet in diameter. He and his son Sonny boated the big flat fish in waters near Eaglecrest Lodge at Qualicum Beach. It had been hooked in the tail on a 20-pound test leader.

PORT ALBERNI—A police warning to merchants and citizens in the Alberni has followed a discovery of a counterfeit $20 note by the staff at the Bank of Nova Scotia. Police said all $20 bills should be checked by merchants. The bill was turned in to the bank with the day's receipts of a local business firm and had the appearance of genuine currency.

DUNCAN—Last rites will be held from the Hirst chapel at 2 p.m. today for Alfred John Castle, 78, who died recently in Veterans' Hospital in Victoria. He was a former city works foreman.

VICTORIA—Cobble Hill resident Alfred Fick, 67, was in fair condition in St. Joseph's Hospital last night after an accident early this week on Salt Spring Island. He was visiting a logging site near Burgoyne Bay when he was hit on the head by a wind-blown alder sapling.

GANGES—Funeral services will be held in Royal Oak chapel at 1:30 p.m. today for a longtime resident of Mayne Island, Mrs. Edith Mary Deacon, who died Wednesday in Lady Minto Hospital.

PORT ALBERNI—Funeral services were held in Stevens chapel this week for John Wesley Kemp, 53, who died suddenly from an apparent heart attack while working as a shift electrician in the pulp mill. A native of Dauphin, Man., he had lived here for seven years. An inquiry was held.

GANGES—RCMP are investigating a discovery made by David Smith, who lives at St. Mary Lake on Salt Spring Island.

land. When he returned to his Lang Road home one day recently, he found the rear wall had been pushed in 18 inches, apparently by a car which had been using his private road from the beach.

NANAIMO—Const. Lloyd Starr, who has been stationed in the local RCMP detachment for more than eight years, has been transferred to Whalley in the Cloverdale area. He will be replaced by Const. Brian Bowron of Cloverdale.

POST ALBERNI—Shirley McLean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McLean on Hector Road and this year's Alberni Valley 4-H Queen, has won the $200 Kinsmen's bursary, the oldest such award in this area. She expects to take Grade 13 in Alberni District Senior Secondary School this year, then go on to UBC.

NANAIMO AREA Getting TV by Cable

NANAIMO—The Lynburn subdivision in the Departure Bay area will have cable television sometime in September and the system will be extended later to Nanaimo, Lantzville and Wellington.

Island cable-TV tycoon Ivan Holloway said Friday.

He told a Rotary meeting more than $10,000 worth of equipment will process the signals of Channels 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 12 for "almost perfect reception."

MICROWAVE TOWER
B.C. Telephone is installing the cables, the antenna system is located near phone headquarters and the microwave tower is at Wellington.

Mr. Holloway said almost a year was spent checking signals to locate the best reception area in the Nanaimo district.

His Nanaimo agent is Steve Alenclose and the hookup fee is $15 with the monthly rate $4.50.

LAKE COWICHAN
A similar system is being installed in Lake Cowichan.

Mr. Holloway established cable-TV in the Alberni Valley nine years ago, started the system at Kelsey Bay four years ago and has cable-TV interests at Duncan and Willow Point, near Campbell River.

Grassroots Theatre Plans Tour

NANAIMO—Five Nanaimo actors and actresses who aroused island-wide interest with performances on the grass at a Yellow Point resort each Saturday this summer will wind up their season with a tour starting Tuesday.

Theatre Five will take acts from comedies of Chekhov, Shaw, Tennessee Williams, Dorothy Parker and George Farquhar to the Grande Hotel and Surf Lodge on Gabriola Island Tuesday, then to a "guests only" show in Parksville's Island Hall Thursday.

The group includes director Pat O'Neill, his wife Pamela, Robert Porter, Tony Dillon-Davis and Shannon Knighton. Their last performance at Field's Pool begins at 8:30 tonight. A silver collection helps defray expenses.

Comox Arena Rising

Rapidly taking form is $100,000 ice arena being built at B.C.A.F. Station Comox by air force personnel. Arena is located just outside station next to married quarters and will be finished late this year. Scout hall is shown in background. —(Agnes Flett)

Alberni Couple

Surprise Party Held By 41 Descendants

ALBERNI—A surprise golden anniversary party held recently for Mr. and Mrs. P. Alva Haggard was attended by all but one of their eight children, 21 of their grandchildren and 13 of their 17 great-grandchildren.

In addition, friends made since their retirement to the Alberni Valley in mid-1962 brought the gathering in Cherry Creek Hall to more than 60 people.

During the celebration, messages came from son Alvin in Rialto, Calif., who could not be present, and from Halifax, where a grandchild reported the news of the birth of another great-grandchild.

BORN IN MISSOURI

Mr. Haggard was born in Missouri and moved to Saskatchewan in 1912. He met his future wife, Mary Sunderland, the following year and they were married in August, 1914.

He worked as a farmer, steamfitter, steam and diesel engineer and electrician in Saskatchewan and Alberta. The Haggards recently returned from a trip to Hinton, Alta.

ALSO ELECTRICIAN

Mr. Haggard, in spite of his 71 years, put in two weeks of nine-hour days helping a son-in-law who is also an electrician.

Their sons and daughters are Herb, Mrs. Martha Holmes, Mrs. Myrtle Hunt, Charley and Calvin, all of the Alberni Valley; Mrs. Beatrice Viney, Tisdale; Mrs. Pearl Roy, Hinton, and Alvin, Rialto.

Champion Retiring

Logging sports champion Allan Woodrow, 54, says he plans to retire at the end of the present sports season, after winning 68 trophies and more than $5,000 in 21 years. A Courtenay division scaler for Crown Zellerbach, he took up logging sports when a logging mishap broke a wrist and excused him to strengthen it developed his skills. His 10 all-round cups include ones won this year in Port Alberni and Squamish.

Winners Named By Horse Club

COOMBS—Results have been announced of the recent Vancouver Island Horsemen's Council point show held by the Triangle Riding Club at the community fairgrounds, the club's first point event and third show of the season.

The 34-member club plans another informal show soon, then a big show at the Coombs fair Sept. 19. Results of the point show:

Westwood

Westwood Gets Post

'Valued Servant' B.C.'s London Man

Former provincial recreation minister Earl Westwood is already on his way to London, where he will become B.C.'s agent-general, it was learned Friday.

The appointment of the former Social Credit MLA for Nanaimo, who is 54, was announced earlier in the day by Premier Bennett. He will succeed John V. Fisher, 72, who was appointed in 1961 and has been known for the past year to have been seeking replacement.

Mr. and Mrs. Westwood left Nanaimo Wednesday for New York to board a liner for Britain. He is expected to arrive in London late in September.

Mr. Fisher was a civil servant for 41 years, rising to the post of deputy finance minister and chief economic adviser to the premier.

"It is difficult for me to put into words," said Mr. Bennett, "my own feeling of gratitude to Mr. Fisher and that of all the people of this province who have benefited so long and so fully from his efforts."

"I'm very pleased that the Hon. E. C. Westwood has agreed to carry on the high calibre of representation which British Columbia has enjoyed at its official headquarters for Europe."

The premier said Mr. Westwood was uniquely fitted for the role of broadening and expanding B.C. interests abroad.

"He, like Mr. Fisher, has been a public servant for many years, first as mayor of Nanaimo and since 1956 as a valued MLA and cabinet minister.

"The difficult task of organizing Canada's first department of recreation and conservation fell to him and he carried out this responsibility in an admirable manner."

Mr. Westwood was born in Nanaimo and educated there and in Vancouver. He was a member of the Nanaimo parks and school boards before the Second World War.

After the war, he became an alderman and was elected mayor in 1952 for two years, then re-elected in 1956. He resigned the next year.

Mr. Westwood lost by 19 votes to Dave Stupich of the NDP in the 1963 provincial election.

He and his older brother Frank own Westwoods' funeral home in Nanaimo but are no longer active in the business.

His two children, Brent, 24, and Susan, 21, remain in Nanaimo.

Saltair Has Choice

Talks to Settle Amalgamation?

By KLAUS MUENTER

NORTH COWICHAN — Two meetings, one last Thursday and the other next Monday, will probably decide whether Saltair amalgamates with North Cowichan or Ladysmith, it was learned Friday.

The executive of the Saltair Ratepayers' Association held a closed meeting with members of North Cowichan council in Chemainus Thursday night and has been invited to attend the Ladysmith village council meeting Monday.

The decision to meet the two councils was made by the ratepayers at a recent meeting attended by J. Everett Brown, deputy municipal affairs minister.

NEW MEETING SET — It was learned he will probably be presented at another meeting to be called after the North Cowichan and Ladysmith conferences.

He said he "tried to emphasize there will be no competition between North Cowichan and Ladysmith for the Saltair district, but an effort will be made to do the right thing for most of the people."

There are 1,800 people in Saltair, 2,100 in Ladysmith and 10,000 in North Cowichan.

Saltair officials say they hope that meeting will pick one or the other by a large majority. They added that taxpayers of the favored municipality and Saltair will hold a plebiscite to make the final decision.

MEETING NEAR — Indications were North Cowichan might be the choice and the merger might be complete some time next year.

North Cowichan Reeve Donald Morton said the Thursday meeting was "very satisfactory" but any other statement must await the Ladysmith parley.

NO COMPETITION — He said he "tried to emphasize there will be no competition between North Cowichan and Ladysmith for the Saltair district, but an effort will be made to do the right thing for most of the people."

There are 1,800 people in Saltair, 2,100 in Ladysmith and 10,000 in North Cowichan.

Immediate past lieutenant-governor for Kiwanians on Vancouver Island, Jack Lee of Victoria has taken the post again on the recent resignation of Island zone lieutenant-governor Denys Bryan of Courtenay due to ill health.

Ski Lift Ready This Year?

COURTENAY—The Forbidden Plateau skiing area could be developed into one of the leading ski centres in North America in the next four or five years, a Quebec ski lift operating firm says.

The statement was made in a letter from the Montreal legal firm of Gieserman, Ackman and Cutler on behalf of their clients, Henry Stadlbauer and Nick Resnick, who inspected the area last year.

LAND SWAP

The letter follows recent adoption of the Courtenay Recreation Commission of the provincial government proposal for a land swap to set up the ski lift area. The government also said commission members could act as trustees for the development.

Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell stressed the government will retain the right to approve the ski lift deal.

The Stadlbauer-Resnick deal, outlined in the letter read at a recreation commission meeting Thursday:

● The promoters want a 20 to 25-year lease with option for renewal at a nominal rental charge.

● They agreed to put up a performance bond, as requested by the commission, and agreed that rates would be subject to review by the commission.

● Part of the ski lift would be completed for the 1964-65 skiing season if negotiations can be concluded by Sept. 30. The promoters said this part would be a 2,000-foot T-bar costing between $50,000 and $75,000 and starting 500 feet below the existing tow.

B.C. Retains Right To Approve Deal

● Warming huts and washrooms at the foot of the T-bar would also be built this year.

● The promoters offered to undertake an advertising campaign to publicize the area.

They said the lift would be completed to the top of Mount Wood next year and to Mount Becher in later years. They added ed they have enough capital for the project but are willing to set up a public company and accept investment from private individuals.

The commission agreed to take over from Mount Becher Ski Club negotiations for the use of E and N Railway land.

Plans were made to interview Zellerbach officials regarding use of land for the ski tow and the government's proposed Class C park.

Cricket Club Acts

Duncan Sports Centre Adjoins Tennis Club

DUNCAN — The Cowichan Cricket Club will accept city council's final offer for its 7.5-acre playing field on Wharncliffe Road and build a 10-acre district sports centre next to the South Cowichan Lawn Tennis Club.

This statement was made Friday by cricket club executive member Jeff Hunter. The city notified the club the final offer will be made early next week. The figure is expected to be about $18,500.

Mr. Hunter said the club hopes to use the money to buy 10 acres adjacent to the tennis club and consolidate all sports in the district, including rugby, soccer, cricket, tennis, grass hockey and possibly lawn bowling clubs.

The club also plans a clubhouse in the sports centre. City council, which received an ultimatum from the club this week that the field would be put on the open market soon, held a closed meeting Friday to instruct its solicitor, Hugh Henderson, to make the offer.

APPRaisal MADE — Mayor Jack Dobson said the offer followed an appraisal of the firm for the city by two different firms.

He said he was the only council member to vote against the offer decision but added "there is no animosity involved whatsoever."

TWO-YEAR ISSUE

The playing field issue arose almost two years ago when the cricket club tried to sell the area on the open market and interested city groups urged the city to buy it as a playground.

Taxpayers last December authorized the city to buy the field.

Boat Sinks Under Tow

VANCOUVER — The U.S. fishboat Elector sank in Kelsey Bay Friday while being towed to port after being holed earlier.

Another U.S. fishboat, the Arizona, was conducting the tow job after taking aboard the Elector's five unidentified crewmen. They later transferred to a third American vessel, the Vertus.

With Campbell

Study Group To Meet

By MRS. DON HUNTLEY — CAMPBELL RIVER — Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell and his deputy, J. Everett Brown, will meet Monday with the study group formed last December to consider formation of a district municipality in this area.

The meeting was announced Thursday evening at a gathering of Willow Point water district ratepayers, during which they were invited to ask questions about the proposal.

FIRST MEETING

It was the first meeting called by any water district in the Campbell River area since the study group was formed.

Questions included:

- Is a plebiscite mandatory?
- What will happen to Willow Point if it doesn't join the district municipality?
- Will the tax rate go up?
- How will the cost of public works, police, more civic employees, etc., be covered and will a police station need to be built?
- Why are some tree farm areas not included in the proposal?
- How will amalgamation affect recreation and parks?

Meeting chairman Stan Jensen, water board official Arnold Cameron and others will take these questions to the meeting with the provincial officials.

Qualicum Beach

Curling Rink Site At Rear of Hall

QUALICUM BEACH — The site of this community's proposed skating and curling rink has been changed to the rear of the present community hall from the original area at Recreation Park.

The change was made at a recent meeting of the Qualicum and District Recreation Club, when about 40 voters voted by a two-thirds majority in favor of the move.

Club president Orian Rye told

Children Escape Tar Pit, Water

CAMPBELL RIVER — Two northern island children had narrow escapes from death in a pair of recent incidents.

Searchers found Harold Farmer, 2, of Nimpkish, in a tar pit into which he apparently fell while playing. His mouth and eyes were full of tar and he was only semi-conscious, but the boy was otherwise unharmed and soon recovered.

Adrian Downes, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Downes of Port Alice, fell into the water while playing on a Port Alice wharf which has been fenced off since it was wrecked in the Good Friday tidal wave.

The alarm was sounded by his two-year-old playmate, Carolyn Law. Rescuers found the boy floating on his back and believe his heavy sweater kept him afloat.

PARKSVILLE — Valerie Dare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. J. Dare of Parksville, is the only student in the local school district to qualify for a provincial government scholarship this year. She graduated from Qualicum Beach High School in June with an 82.25 per cent average.

The meeting the only tender received for building the rink in Qualicum Construction Co. of the park was $84,723 from the Qualicum Beach, almost $15,000 higher than the original estimate of $70,000.

Don Beaton of the construction firm said that, if the rink is added to the community hall, it could possibly be built for the $70,000 that is available.

He said alterations would not be too extensive as the hall is of sound construction.

Fullers' Lake Arena

'South' May Turn Down Arena

NORTH COWICHAN — The proposed arena at Fullers' Lake Park in the north end of the municipality may be turned down by the south end, where most of the voters live.

He was referring to the taxes from the two big mills at Chemainus and Crofton.

FOR CENTENARY — The commission recently recommended construction of the arena on 40 acres of municipally-owned land at the lake as North Cowichan's project for the 1967 Canadian centenary and council approved the choice.

Mr. Gallagher said he had heard more voices against the location than for it and Mr. Evans said "the sad part" is that most taxes come from the north while the voters live in the south.

He was referring to the taxes from the two big mills at Chemainus and Crofton.

FOR CENTENARY — The commission recently recommended construction of the arena on 40 acres of municipally-owned land at the lake as North Cowichan's project for the 1967 Canadian centenary and council approved the choice.

Mr. Evans suggested the south end would like an arena closer to Duncan and said the ideal place would be on land next to the Cowichan exhibition grounds.

NOT READY — But chairman Dennis Hogan said it would be several years before areas south of the municipality would be ready for a project like the arena.

He said the $35,000 purchase price for the land alone beside the exhibition would be prohibitive and added North Cowichan "must act as if we were the only group carrying this project."

Mr. Gallagher felt the lake land is the only piece of land available and added that "if taxpayers are not satisfied with it, they should show us another piece of land which would be more suitable."

COST NEGLIGIBLE

Recording secretary Bert Warrender said the cost to the individual taxpayer would be negligible and council member Gerry Smith doubted it would be much more than one mill, considering the federal centennial grant and contributions from the mills.

The commission felt the referendum should not be held this December. It decided to ask B.C. Arena Association president Harry Wipperfurth for advice on types of arenas.

In other matters, the commission decided to form a subcommittee to look for a suitable site for a Maple Bay boat launching ramp.

It also advised Jim Quail of Duncan, who is trying to establish a teen-town there, to make a firm recommendation on a proposed site. He has asked for a land donation.

Driver Cut, Bruised In $9,000 Crash

DUNCAN — The driver of a semi-trailer tank truck escaped with cuts and bruises Thursday in a $9,000 crash at the E. & N. railway overpass on the highway five miles north of here.

Police said driver Maurice Golley of Burnaby was driving a truck owned by Tank Truck Service of Burnaby when he apparently lost control on the curve approaching the overpass. The cab rammed into one of the bridge's railing pillars.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $9,000, to the bridge $1,000. Traffic was not interrupted.

Chinese Amnesty Broadened

City's

Now 159

Forty-eight Chinese in Victoria have reported to authorities as illegal immigrants in the past two weeks.

An immigration official here said it will take several weeks to process the applications for status adjustment.

Since mid-1960 there have been 159 applications and some of them are still awaiting processing.

Most of the illegal immigrants entered the country with false documents, misrepresentation of relationships "and many other means," the official said.

There were about 400 other applications made in Vancouver before the recent rush of more than 200 in that city.

One source in Vancouver's Chinatown, Canada's largest, estimated there were about 3,000 Chinese still hiding there illegally.

VANCOUVER (CP)—An immigration department official said Friday an amnesty covering Chinese who entered Canada illegally has been broadened and extended indefinitely.

Frank Wragg, operations supervisor for the Vancouver area for the immigration department, said the amnesty will apply to Chinese who have entered the country illegally up to and including Aug. 31.

As in the past, the amnesty will cover Chinese who have entered the country under pretence of having close relatives here. It also has been broadened to include those who have entered through use of forged passports.

Those illegally entered need only step forward and declare their status.

"We want to take statements from all of them," Mr. Wragg said, "so we can clarify their status."

Earlier this month Immigration Minister Tremblay announced in the Commons that a deadline of Sept. 1 had been set for the amnesty policy. Later he said the government was prepared to prolong the period of amnesty.

It was reported here that 3,000 illegally landed Chinese were continuing to hide.

B.C. Bank Bid Not Dead Yet

B.C.'s application for a bank charter may come before the senate banking committee again within 15 days, Premier Bennett said Friday.

The bank dropped suddenly from the news about a month ago when senators discontinued, for the time being, deliberation of the premier's charter application.

But the bank is coming along well, Mr. Bennett told reporters.

"The two virtues I hope to cultivate now are perseverance and patience—the hard virtues to carry out," he said.

Will B.C. get its bank? "We've worked with all the rules so we should get it," the premier said.

'Revolution' Drives Out Canadiens

QUEBEC (CP)—Seven officials, including three regional presidents, announced Friday they are quitting their posts in Le Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale, a leading Quebec separatist organization, because it is "dominated by a faction which is leading it more and more into an irreversible policy of revolution."

The seven said in a statement that, if political independence is necessary for Quebec, revolution would be "extremely disastrous" as a way of achieving it.

The regional presidents involved in the resignation are Dr. René Jutra of the Bois-Bras region, Jean Garon of the Quebec City and Quebec East region and Marc-André Bedard of Châteauguay.

Coldwell: 'Watched'

Coldwell Dossier Cited By 'Undercover Agent'

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—Calvin Macdonald, who claims he worked as an undercover agent for the RCMP 10½ years, said Friday he spied on M. J. Coldwell, former federal CCF leader, in 1960.

In the second of his cross-country speeches, Macdonald said in a street-corner speech that Ernest Corrigan, a corporal in the RCMP's "A" Squadron of the security investigations branch, ordered him to collect facts for a dossier on Mr. Coldwell.

Mr. Macdonald says he is making his cross-country tour and exposes to attempt to force the RCMP to acknowledge that he became a Communist Party member on their behalf and acted as an undercover agent.

Mr. Macdonald said here he met Mr. Coldwell at social affairs at the Russian Embassy. He said he saw him there at least three times after he (Macdonald) was contacted by the RCMP.

"I turned in a report on each occasion on Mr. Coldwell's remarks and on what known Communists had spoken to him," Mr. Macdonald said.

He added that Mr. Coldwell was most certainly not a Communist. "But this shows that even a member of Parliament and leader of a political party is suspected by the RCMP."

Riotous Troops, Students

Turks Assail U.S.

ANKARA (AP)—Turkish soldiers and officers joined students Friday in a riotous two-hour march through Ankara streets, shouting anti-United States slogans and breaking windows of the Greek embassy.

The United States also came in for attack in Nicosia, Cyprus, where Greek-Cypriots in an orderly demonstration accused the U.S. and Britain of supporting Turkish demands for the partition of Cyprus. Cypriots shouted "Makarios, Khrushchev, Nasser" and carried placards saying "shame on Anglo-American imperialist murderers."

SECOND DAY

It was the second day in a row in which Ankara crowds had assailed the United States. The Turks have been aroused by newspaper stories saying the U.S. is trying to force Turkey to accept a solution providing for union of Cyprus with Greece.

The Nicosia rally preceded the departure of President Archbishop Makarios for Alexandria and talks with Egypt's President Nasser, who has offered arms to Cyprus.

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese troops in full battle gear cracked down on mobs today and restored a semblance of order after this capital had teetered on the verge of anarchy. It was expected military leaders would step back into full power.

A declaration of martial law and imposition of a 9 p.m. to 4 a.m. curfew was expected.

A government spokesman said Friday night a military-civilian "committee of unification" would replace the dissolved ruling revolutionary council. The committee would include the country's three top generals and representatives of the Buddhists, Roman Catholics and possibly students.

EVERYONE FIGHTS

Buddhists and Catholics have been fighting each other and the students have been rioting against the government in disorders that left at least nine dead and scores wounded.

At a noon press conference, Nguyen Xuan Oanh, a former vice-premier for economic affairs, announced he would be acting premier of the caretaker government for the next two months. He formerly served under strongman Maj. - Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

FISH BARRIERS ASIDE

The soldiers swept aside makeshift barriers thrown across main streets by the demonstrators Thursday and Friday and set up barbed wire barricades of their own.

"From now on law and order will be enforced," a security officer said.

But a Communist Viet Cong broadcast called on the people in Saigon to rise in revolt, and a force said to be made up of 1,000 students from Communist territory was reported marching on the capital.

MAIN POINTS

The main points of violence in the city and its suburbs were under army control with barbed wire barricades blocking the approaches.

Units of paratroopers and steel-helmeted troops with fixed bayonets raced across the city, pouncing on random knots of demonstrators, shoving them into trucks and driving them away.

Five hundred demonstrators were arrested Friday night and police said 150 of them, had criminal records. At least 15 were being held as Communist suspects.

FORM COMMITTEE

In an attempt to put an end to the religious strife and student rebellion, the government set up the committee of unification.

Blood Quest Ranged Afar

WASHINGTON (AP)—A doctor said Friday blood banks struggled successfully to obtain 53 units of a rare type of blood from 40 donors in 10 states and Canada last year to save the life of a New Jersey man.

Dr. Lyndall Maltman of Philadelphia told of the dramatic international quest to round up the blood type, called "Lutheran b-negative" and discovered only a few years ago.

She said sheet-metal worker Herbert Kuehn, in the course of a series of operations, three times exhausted the U.S. supply of the rare blood.

But, she told the annual meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks that, because of the work of the blood banks in rounding up donors, he now is back home.

She said co-operation of many blood banks obtained the needed blood from donors in Winnipeg and Toronto, an Irish woman visiting in Boston and donors in New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Alabama, Florida, Illinois, Minnesota and Pittsburgh.

Many of the donors had not known they possessed the rare type.

Smashing, Looting

Negroes Riot In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Negroes smashed store windows, looted stores and attacked police vehicles with bottles and bricks in north Philadelphia Friday.

The outbreak started when two policemen tried to stop a loud argument between a man and a woman sitting in a parked car. A crowd gathered and threatened the officers. The mob grew and as the leaders taunted the police, others ran down Columbia Avenue, a business district, looting stores.

More than 200 policemen moved into the area and restored order for a time. The crowd again became unruly when police began chasing roving gangs suspected of looting. Quiet was restored when more police arrived.

At least 20 persons, including a bus driver, were injured. Transportation routes through the slum area were discontinued for the night. Police commissioner Howard Leary and other high-ranking officers remained with the officers through the night.

Long Chase For Police

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Reporter Bill Campbell of radio station WHCI attempted to dial direct Friday to the Ohio highway patrol headquarters, three miles away across the Ohio River.

When the other party answered, he found he had reached a number in Chase, B.C., 3,000 miles away.
